

Power Strike
No Nearer To Settlement;
Use Pickets

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27 (AP)—The first picketing in a strike of 3,200 Duquesne Light company employees threatened further this city's power supply now dwindling near the danger point in the fourth day of a crippling work stoppage.

No settlement was in sight.

Union President George Mueller agreed to resume stalemated negotiations with "anyone in authority" but fixed no time or place and no conferences were scheduled.

Motormen Back

Meanwhile, pickets appeared at various company plants after dissolution of an anti-strike injunction. They halted delivery of coal at a main power station. They also persuaded bus drivers on 29 city routes to leave their vehicles garaged rather than cross picket lines. The bus lines are operated by the Pittsburgh Motor Coach company.

Public tenement relaxed somewhat as an early morning union order sent 2,800 streetcar motormen hurrying back to their jobs to man trolleys which had stood idle since 5 a. m. yesterday, crippling the city's transportation system and stranding thousands of workers.

The Pittsburgh Railways company announced it would continue to give the "limited" service it had been offering since the power strike started—50 per cent of normal "off-peak" operation, which meant that about 225 of the system's 1,200 cars would be running.

28,000 Idle

About 28,000 other workers remained idle as a result of power curtailments.

Electricity in Duquesne Light's lines overnight was reported at 31 per cent of normal, compared with 40 per cent yesterday and 45 per cent the day before.

Pickets marched in front of the company's power stations and substations, where supervisory workers and officials of the firm tried to keep enough current flowing to supply vital needs. Some power was being furnished by other companies and many concerns put private generating plants in operation.

Times Probes Complaint
Prepared By Bahamians;
Reveals Wages And Menus

During the past week there have been rumors of discontent and unrest at Camp Sharpe, on the Battlefield, where some 122 Bahamians are quartered during their stay in Adams county where they are assisting farmers and growers during the harvesting of crops.

The Gettysburg Times inquired through official channels and learned that the Bahamians had not filed an official protest.

On Tuesday The Times received a communication, purporting to come from the Bahamians, protesting against what they termed living conditions which they said were "below the average."

A reporter for The Times started a second investigation. He failed to find a "J. W. Strachau" who was referred to in the letter of complaint. Official records of the Bahamians do not contain any such name.

Erwin C. Thompson, of the War Food Administration, office of labor, who is in charge of the administration of Camp Sharpe, opened his official records to the Times' reporter. The steward at the camp also made data and records available.

Below is the report of the findings of The Times' reporter (in the first column) and the complaint mailed to The Times (in the adjoining column).

The crux of any recent discontent at Camp Sharpe might be summed up in these few words: "Too much fish." That there was discontent at the camp was evident after talking with several of the 122 Bahamians which the United States government brought here through arrangements with the British government.

Just what percentage of the number of Bahamians here articulated discontent over what the management admits were "monotonous" menus, or what percentage accepted the explanations of the camp officials, is problematical. Not all the Bahamians could be questioned.

But many of them voice dissatisfaction with the "too much fish" diet they said they were being fed at the camp.

Erwin C. Thompson, head of the War Food Administration office at 48 Chambersburg street, and Adam Cookman, camp manager, made office and camp records available to a Times reporter.

Shortage of Labor

The first of the Bahamian agricultural workers arrived in Gettysburg on July 16. Their presence here was at the request of Adams county farmers and fruit growers, who as far back as mid-winter feared loss of 1946 crops because of an anticipated farm labor shortage this summer and fall.

These farmers and growers, through their representatives, learned that prisoner of war labor would not be available this year. Government agencies sent Bahamians here. They were quartered at Camp Sharpe, where the POW's had been housed prior to their removal early in the spring.

Complaints, according to camp authorities were, until recently, few. They involved minor affairs which might arise among any large group of men, authorities say.

The more recent "gripes" which apparently reached their high point on Monday of this week were based on the meals.

Deny Fish Charge

The Bahamians (or a percentage of them) said they did not like the meals that were being served them at the camp. Specifically, they said there was too much fish and not enough meat. Some, to whom this reporter talked, said they had not seen meat on the tables at camp for three weeks. Camp authorities deny this assertion.

Menus for the two weeks ending September 20 were made available to The Times. Mr. Thompson and Mr. Cookman said that food listed on the menus had actually been served, on the days specified, in large and ample quantities. These were the menus: (The week begins on Saturday and ends the following Friday)

Saturday, September 7
Breakfast: hard-boiled eggs, bacon with gravy, tea and johnny bread, jam, boiled potatoes. Dinner (evening meal): steamed fish and gravy, rice and string beans, stewed corn and bread.

GEORGE MARTIN
FISH AND GAME

George R. Martin, proprietor of Martin's shoe store, was elected president of the Adams County Fish and Game association Thursday evening at a meeting held in Martin's store. He succeeds Frank Dougherty.

Dr. Lloyd C. Keefeauver, Gettysburg superintendent of schools, was named first vice president; Joseph Boyer, Biglerville, second vice president; former President Dougherty, secretary and George Raffensperger, treasurer.

Donald Hammers, secretary of the association since 1939 declined renomination to the post and his decision was accepted by the association with regret and the thanks of the members for the work he has done during the past seven years.

To Repair Dam

Repair to Bream's dam, located on Marsh Creek near the Fairfield road, was placed high on the agenda of future activities of the association with a committee comprising the Messrs. Keefeauver, Dougherty and Martin selected to meet with officials of the Gettysburg Water Company to determine who will make the repairs.

The dam was built a number of years ago by the Adams County Fish and Game Association and maintained since then by the water company which utilizes it as a reservoir in the Gettysburg water supply, members pointed out.

Previously the water company would use a gate in a spillway on the dam to let water down into the lower reaches of the creek when the water in the water company dam reached low levels.

Disintegrating for the past several years, the dam this past summer was described as "falling apart." One section has been cut down by the washing away of concrete and the spillway section has nearly washed away.

A membership drive was announced by President Martin with every member of the club named to the membership committee. Particular efforts will be made to interest (Please Turn to Page 2)

4 COMMUNIONS
ARE ANNOUNCED
AT ST. JAMES

Holy Communion will be celebrated at St. James Lutheran church this evening at 7:30 o'clock and on Sunday at 10:30 a. m., 4 p. m., and 7:30 p. m. At the 10:30 service Sunday morning new members will be received into the church by confirmation and letter of transfer. The pastor, Dr. Ralph R. Gresh, will be the liturgist at all the services, and will be assisted in the distribution of the elements by the Rev. A. R. Longanecker.

Because of the size of the congregation a fourth communion has been added on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. This service is planned particularly for all those who feel they cannot attend a large communion service.

The church choir, under the direction of Prof. Richard B. Shade, have prepared appropriate music for the sacramental services. This evening the junior choir will sing the anthem, "Behold, We Come, Dear Lord" by Melchior Vulpius. Sunday morning the senior choir will render the anthem, "The Prayer of the Penitent" by H. Alexander Matthews. Sunday evening the senior high school choir will sing, "Jesus, The Very Thought of Thee" by James C. Warhurst.

A service of baptism for children will be held in the church Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Aspers Man Hurt
In Auto Accident

Nick S. Gottuso, 36, Aspers, suffered a leg bruise shortly after noon Thursday when the truck he was driving sideswiped an automobile, then overturned on the Carlisle-Gettysburg pike, three miles south of Mt. Holly Springs.

State police of the Carlisle sub-station reported that information was filed against Gottuso before Justice of the Peace Clarence Starner, Dickinson township, on a charge of improper passing in the face of oncoming traffic.

Police said the Gottuso truck was traveling southward and passed an other vehicle on the crest of a hill, sideswiped an auto traveling northward operated by Frank Barinott, 59, Washington, then turned on its side. Damage to Gottuso's truck was estimated by police at $175 and Barinott's auto, $200.

Makes Useless Trip
On Charges By OPA

Paul L. Evans, discharged Navy veteran and proprietor of Evans store, York street, made a useless OPA trip to Philadelphia, Thursday, to answer OPA charges relative to livestock slaughtering here.

Mr. Evans said today that he had been officially notified as to day, time and place for his hearing in Philadelphia, scheduled for Thursday at 11:30 a. m., before a U. S. Commissioner. On Tuesday Mr. Evans received a second notice, a telegram, reminding him of the hearing.

Mr. Evans said he reported at the Commissioner's office at 11:30 a. m., Thursday and was told that the Commissioner wasn't in his office. He said he was given "no reason" for the absence and that he was then advised that he would be summoned for a second hearing on October 10.

PLAN TWO-DAY
INSTRUCTION OF
AG. TEACHERS

Adams county agricultural teachers made plans, at their first fall meeting Thursday night in the office of the county superintendent of schools here, for a two-day school of instruction for agriculture teachers on soil conservation, land use and contour farming.

Francis T. Bowne, Pittsburgh, district conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, will be the instructor. Dates selected for the school are October 11 and 12. One day will be spent on a farm laying out strips, testing soil, etc. The other day will be spent in classroom instruction. The school where this session will be held has not been selected.

FFA Officers School

Plans were also made for a school of instruction for county FFA officers, to be held sometime in October, at which time a county FFA organization will be formed.

Plans were also discussed for another county project contest for boys taking agriculture courses in the schools. The boys' projects, which they have conducted during the summer will be judged December 16-19.

John L. Kratzert, agriculture teacher at New Oxford, and president of the county organization, presided at Thursday night's meeting. Two new members were welcomed, John McAllister, new ag teacher at Arendtsville, and Elwood Staudt, new ag teacher at East Berlin.

The next meeting of the ag teachers will be held at Biglerville, with Cecil Snyder as host and Mrs. Snyder hostess to the women.

BAND PARADES
NEXT THURSDAY

Members of the Blue and Gray band will meet at the fire engine house, East Middle street, in time to leave there at 12 o'clock noon next Thursday for York where they will take part in the firemen's parade with the Gettysburg fire company.

That announcement was made Thursday evening at the final practice of the band held prior to the parade. The group will go to York regardless of weather and the trip will be made on Standard Time.

Rupert Nary, assistant director, was in charge of the rehearsal Thursday evening, due to the illness of Prof. H. C. Stenger, director, who recently underwent an operation at the Temple University hospital, Philadelphia. Nary will also be in charge during the parade at York.

In preparation for the affair all uniforms of the outfit have been dry cleaned and pressed.

Rural Carrier To Address Rotarians

J. Richard Hamm, president of the Pennsylvania Letter Carriers association, will be the speaker Monday at the regular meeting of Rotary at the YWCA at 6 p. m.

Mr. Hamm, a resident of New Oxford, who was recently selected from among the 32,000 carriers in the U.S. as the "typical rural mailman" by the U.S. Post Office department and used as the subject of an educational film by the Encyclopedia Britannica Films, Inc., will speak on "Our Mail Service."

Birth Announcements

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh C. McIlhenny, Harrisburg, announced the birth of a son, James Archer, late Thursday night at the Warner hospital. This is the couple's third child and second son.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rabine, New Oxford, are the parents of a daughter born at the Hanover hospital Thursday.

A daughter was born at the Hanover hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd D. Shank, New Oxford R. D. 2.

"For the first time," Secretary of State James F. Byrnes told a news conference last night, "I see a possibility of winding up the peace conference."

GIRL SCOUTS
PLAN COUNCIL
FOR 19 TROOPS

Adams county will soon have a Girl Scout council governing the activities of the 19 troops with nearly 400 members now established in this area.

That conclusion seemed assured Thursday night following a meeting of a steering committee in the parlors of St. James Lutheran church at which Mrs. Luella Musselman Arnold, Biglerville, was named chairman of the temporary group to establish the council.

Representatives of 14 troops present for the session signified their intention of joining the council and representatives of two other troops would join the group at a later meeting. While no official representatives were present from the other six troops those present believed that the six troops from Littlestown and Abbottstown would join the county organization.

Nominating Committee

Dr. and Mrs. Raymond H. Hale, Jr., Arendtsville, were named as co-chairmen of a temporary nominating and membership committee to serve until the council is formed.

The nominating committee will select a list of officers for the proposed council for whom the various representatives will vote at a meeting to be held in about one month. It was announced Thursday night.

Mrs. J. Walter Coleman was selected as head of the constitution and by-laws committee; Mrs. George F. Eberhart was selected to head the finance committee and Mrs. William Lott, Gardners R. D., was named head of the publicity committee.

Each committee chairman will select his own committee, Mrs. Arnold announced.

The various committees and the steering committee are scheduled to meet again October 17 at 8 o'clock at the St. James parlors to report on progress and complete plans for a general meeting later in October or early in November when the council will be formed.

Plan Other Troops

Mrs. Richard C. Lighter was appointed by Mrs. Arnold to continue as secretary of the steering committee.

Doctor Hale in a short talk urging formation of the Girl Scout council pointed out that two Arendtsville churches and an Arendtsville Sunday school class have already signified willingness to sponsor either a Girl Scout or Boy Scout troop. That response, he added, will probably be made on Thursday night.

Presbyterian Youth
Rally Sunday Night

The Rev. A. Walker Hepler, Steelton, chairman of the Christian Education committee of the Carlisle Presbytery, will be the speaker at a Youth Rally to be held at 7 o'clock Sunday evening in the Gettysburg Presbyterian church. There will be in special music.

Plans for the organization of a Gettysburg branch of the Westminster Fellowship for Youth also will be presented at the service.

Compensation Rate On War Damages Established

Paris, Sept. 27 (AP)—A principle of 75 per cent compensation for war damage to allied property was virtually established for all five European peace treaties today, erasing a troublesome controversy, but the nations remained free to present divergent views to the peace conference plenary session.

The United States and Russia joined in the Balkans-Finnish economic commission against Britain's demand for full compensation. But the Russian delegate, financial expert V. S. Guerachtchenko, expressed annoyance that a move for only 25 per cent payment, defeated by a 9-4 vote, had been termed an American proposal.

Russia sought only up to 33 per cent, he said, and therefore the lowest demand against former enemy states should be called a Russian proposal.

The commission adopted a text of the war damage compensation clause for the Romanian treaty, but decided to leave out the figures. While the 75 per cent principle, already voted for the Italian treaty, was adopted for the others, it was agreed the members would be free to support minority reports in the plenary session—Britain for 100 per cent compensation; the United States and Russia for the lowest compensation.

Compensation Rate On

Neither the United States nor Russia voted for the 75 per cent principle. The British and Empire delegates, who would have blocked anything less than 75 per cent, voted for it as the least distasteful of the partial compensation proposals. Indications were, however, that there was a willingness to compromise on the question when it is raised anew in the Foreign Ministers Council.

Hartzells Observe
45th Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Mahlon P. Hartzell, Sr., East Lincoln avenue, quietly celebrated their forty-fifth wedding anniversary Thursday.

The couple was married at the home of Mrs. Hartzell, the former Ida Louise Bream and a daughter of the late Jacob and Harriet Ogden Bream, in Cumberland township, two miles west of Gettysburg. The Rev. Dr. A. R. Steck, then pastor of St. James Lutheran church, officiated.

Mr. Hartzell, then as now, was an employee of the Reading Railroad. For a time the couple resided at Harrisburg. They have three children. Mr. Hartzell for a number of years has been secretary of the Gettysburg school board.

Burke Posts Bail
On Fraud Counts

Matthew Burke, Philadelphia, posted $1,000 bail on each of two charges of cheating before a Philadelphia magistrate to appear before Justice John H. Basehore, before whom the charges were laid by state police.

Burke was charged with cheating by fraudulent pretense Mrs. Ollie Walter and Mrs. Catherine Nett, both of Gettysburg R. 3, on August 9. On that date, according to the informations, he showed the two women a piece of linoleum as a sample. When they purchased the linoleum he gave them wrapped pieces which the two women claim were much shorter in length than the amount they had purchased and was of a poorer quality than represented.

Burke had previously posted bail to appear before the court on a similar charge laid by a local woman some time ago. That charge also came as a result of his sales activities on August 9, and was laid by Mrs. Rose Hartman, Cashtown. Arrested that time in Lancaster he appeared before Justice Basehore and pleaded guilty, posting $500 to appear before the county court. Warrants on the new charges were sent to Philadelphia where Burke was arrested by Philadelphia officers.

Three Motorists
Face Code Charges

Harry Brown, Milton R. 2, has been charged by state police before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore with parking a truck on the Lincoln highway.

Two other arrests were also reported today by state police of the local sub-station with Harvey Holtry, Chambersburg, charged before Justice A. H. Stains, Chambersburg R. 4, with driving with no muffler on his car and making excessive noise. Robert Thomas Sloan, Perry, Ohio, paid a fine of $10 and costs before Justice Stain on a charge of speeding laid by state police from the Gettysburg sub-station.

ADJUSTMENT IN TUITION RATES
IS CALCULATED

Tuition rates for non-resident pupils in the high and elementary schools of the county have been calculated, and applications for their approval by the state education department are ready for filing in Harrisburg. Gettysburg rates already have state approval.

The rates are based on overhead costs and costs of instruction. Overhead may include cost of materials, auxiliary agencies such as medical and nursing care and operation of school plant. Instruction cost includes salaries, payments to the retirement fund, etc.

Affects Eight Towns

From the total costs state appropriations are deducted, and the balance used to calculate tuition charges.

Rates for New Oxford are tentative, and subject to change, because New Oxford had no precedent to follow. The tentative rates are based on the senior high school calculations. As soon as permission is granted by the state, rates will be calculated on a junior-senior basis. The New Oxford school has a junior-senior setup this year for the first time.

Tuition rates as set up in the applications to be submitted to Harrisburg are:

	1946-'47	1945-'46
Arendtsville	$5.90	$10.32
Biglerville	$5.16	$8.80
East Berlin	$3.85	$5.60
Fairfield	$3.95	$4.85
(*) Gettysburg	7.41	9.62
Littlestown	3.24	10.31
New Oxford	5.95	8.21
York Springs	4.81	8.59

(*) (Gettysburg's tuition rates already have been approved by the state.)

PHOTO SOCIETY
HOLDS MEETING

Members of the Gettysburg Photographic society at their September meeting Thursday evening at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Frederick Tilberg, East Lincoln avenue, exhibited and judged their own prints, enjoyed a show of prints by Jack Powell of Hollywood, Calif., and made plans for laboratory meetings to test results of various chemical formulae for photographic solutions.

Maurice Sloops placed first with one of his prints in the judging of the display of pictures by the society members. A picture entered by Dr. Dunning Idle, Jr., placed second; Paul A. Kinsey, third; Doctor Idle, fourth; Paul G. Pensinger, fifth; Dr. C. Allen Sloat, sixth, and Mr. Pensinger, seventh. Twenty pictures were on display.

This committee was named to arrange for the future laboratory sessions: Doctor Sloat, Mr. Pensinger and Edmund W. Thomas, Jr.

The society voted to reduce the minimum requirement of two prints each month from each member to one print.

Paul A. Kinsey, Reading, honorary president of the Gettysburg club, attended the meeting and invited the Gettysburg cameraman to come to Reading for a meeting. Sunday, October 20, was the date set for the trip with October 27 fixed as the "rain date." The regular October meeting will be held October 24 at the home of Joseph D. Kendeheart.

Eleven members, Mr. Kinsey and Paul Thomas, Jr., attended Thursday's meeting.

FLOODS CAUSE DEATHS OF SIX IN SAN ANTONIO

San Antonio, Tex., Sept. 27 (AP)—Floodwaters hit San Antonio today, leaving at least six persons dead, scores injured and hundreds missing.

Property damage was estimated at millions of dollars and literally thousands of residents were made homeless by the flood waters. More than six inches of rain fell in 12 hours.

Flood waters behind the Olmos dam reportedly reached a depth of 5 feet and traffic across the dam was halted by police orders.

Turned into a raging torrent, the Olmos creek inundated much of the southwestern portion of the city. Woodlawn lake, overflowing or the second time this month, mowed many residents in that area. At the height of the flood, transportation in many portions of the city was halted and hundreds of automobiles were stalled while their occupants waded to safety across treacherous water was running with dangerous swiftness.

Cling To Roofs

Early today police broadcast appeals for boats and outboard motors after army authorities had placed a number of amphibious vehicles and rafts into service.

In response to frantic calls for help from the San Jose area off Roosevelt road, where more than 10 persons were reported clinging to rooftops shortly before 7 a.m., Capt. C. L. Scott and a detail of city and military police were dispatched to the scene.

Red Cross authorities about the same time reported 20 persons were marooned in the 500 block of South Presa street and were desperately in need of help. Officers were sent to their assistance.

A military police searching party was making an effort to locate two military policemen who have not been heard from since their government truck was stalled in almost six feet of swirling water in the 5300 block of South Presa street at 5 a.m. This is downtown.

During the night Sgt. Charles Barrera and members of the homicide detail rescued more than 20 persons, many of whom were clad in shorts and underclothing and some of whom were stranded on roof tops and in trees.

A. P. OFFICERS FINED $175,000

Danville, Ill., Sept. 27 (AP)—The New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company and 24 officers and subsidiary corporations today were fined a total of $175,000 following their conviction on charges of conspiracy to monopolize a substantial part of the nation's food business.

Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley, in pronouncing sentence, vacated a portion of his conviction order of Saturday and found three other subsidiaries and one officer innocent of the charges, which were that the defendants restrained and monopolized trade in violation of anti-trust laws.

"I think in my anxiety to get this matter disposed of, I was in error concerning a finding of guilty as to these four defendants," he said.

The defendants acquitted were the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company of Delaware, Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company of Vermont, Inc., American Coffee Corporation of Jersey City, N. J., and Francis M. Kurtz, vice president of the American Coffee Corporation.

GRAZIANO-ZALE BATTLE TONIGHT

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—An explosion goes off in Yankee stadium at 10 p. m. (EDT) tonight, and the blow who walks out of it all in the piece—whether it's titleholder Tony Zale or Challenger Rocky Graziano—winds up with the middle-eight championship of the world. That's how most folks figure this fifty-pull in which the 32-year-old Indiana steel-puddler puts his own on the line for the first time in his five years as champion against the young tough-guy challenge of 24-year-old Rocky from the Jewlarks of New York's lower east side.

From all you hear along Bash Boulevard, it practically has to wind up with one or the other hearing the birds sing some time along the round Derby route.

That is why, too, Promoter Mike Jacobs is expecting to hold a party for some 40,000 customers and a lot of over $400,000—possibly exceeding even the all-time record of $2,648 for a clambake between a couple of little men, other than heavyweight.

Gates to the field will open at 7 o'clock.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

New York, Sept. 27 (AP)—If precedent and punch mean anything, tonight's Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano middleweight championship fight will end in a knockout. . . . There has been at least one title bout in every other division this year and all but one of them wound up with someone on the floor. . . . Joe Louis stiffened Billy Conn and Tami Mauriello; Gus Lesnevich stopped Freddie Mills in England; Marty Servo flattened Red Cochran to take the costly welterweight crown; Bob Montgomery knocked out Allie Stolz in a lightweight title bout; Willie Pep KO'd Sal Bartolo, a rival claimant for the feather title, and Manuel Ortiz stopped Luis Castillo. . . . The only champion who had to go the full distance was Flyweight Jackie Patterson in turning back Joe Curran's challenge. . . . As for Rocky, you know he's a guy who knocks them over with one wallop. Tony requires a few more punches, but he still can knock them flat.

TWO IMPORTANT BASEBALL TILTS AT EMMITSBURG

Two top-notch baseball games are listed to be played at Emmitsburg over the week-end.

On Saturday afternoon the Marylanders will entertain Arendtsville in the second of the three-game series to decide the championship of the Adams County Baseball league.

Emmitsburg took the opener from Arendtsville 3-2 two weeks ago at Arendtsville and can clinch the title by winning on Saturday. A victory for the Apple Pickers will necessitate a third and deciding game.

On Sunday McSherrystown will engage Emmitsburg in the deciding tilt of the three-game semi-final series to determine top honors in the Penn-Maryland league. McSherrystown gained a 1-0 victory two weeks ago and last Sunday Emmitsburg slugged out a 15-2 verdict to even the series.

The winner of Sunday's contest will then meet Hanover in a three-game series for the championship. Hanover took its semi-final series by twice defeating Blue Ridge Summit.

Three Bullet Vets To Oppose Lehigh

Coach Hen Bream will field an untried and inexperienced club Saturday when Gettysburg college invades Bethlehem to battle Lehigh University.

Only three lettermen from 1942, the last year Gettysburg was represented on the gridiron, are on the squad while most of the remainder of the gridgers have had nothing but scholastic experience. Guard Bill Hartman, Lansdale; tackle Jim Lewis, New York city, and back Joe Cervino, Haddon Heights, N. J., are the lads who helped the Bullets to a record of five wins and three losses in 1942.

Although pleased with the play of some of his charges against Franklin and Marshall in a scrimmage on Monday, Bream was far from heartened with the squad's play as a group.

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27 (AP)—The University of Pittsburgh's football game tomorrow with West Virginia will be played in the Pitt stadium regardless of the power strike, Jim Hagan, Pitt athletic director, said today.

The Pitt coaching staff said left end Leo Skladany probably would be kept out of the starting line-up by an ankle injury suffered in last week's Illinois game.

Sport Shorts
Philadelphia, Sept. 27 (AP)—The football experts gave Temple university's Owls a slight edge over the Mustangs of Southern Methodist university as Temple prepared to open its 22nd grid season tonight at Temple stadium.

The Owls' previous encounter with the Mustangs in 1942 resulted in a 6 to 6 tie. However, the experts say the Owls rate the slight edge by virtue of last season's record of seven wins in eight games.

Ensign Hanover Is Lexington Favorite
Lexington, Ky., Sept. 27 (AP)—Ensign Hanover, leading money winner of the Grand Circuit trots season, was entered for his first appearance of the Lexington meeting today in the Poplar Hill stake.

The Castleton Farm's brilliant campaigner was a heavy favorite in the $3,000 race, in view of his triumph last week in the Little Brown Jug stake at Delaware, Ohio.

Ensign Hanover was given a better than fair chance of clipping the year's record for three-year-old pacers, set at 2:02 by Direct Express. Quick Trick, His Lady and other top pacers were contestants in the event.

GREENBERG HITS 2 MORE HOMERS; BROOKLYN WINS

By JOE REICHLER

Associated Press Sports Writer

Hank Greenberg, Detroit's hard-hitting first baseman, who yesterday collected his 43rd and 44th homers, needs only one in each of the Tigers' last three games to break Rudy York's single month record of 18, established in August, '37.

Hank already has slugged 16 home runs this month, although he has played in only 23 of the Tigers' 28 September games.

Although he has reached the 40-mark in four-baggers four times, in only one other year has the big first baseman topped this season's total. That was in 1938 when he came within two of tying Babe Ruth's record of 60.

Greenberg's pair of round trippers helped the Tigers defeat the St. Louis Browns, 6-3.

The battling Brooklyn Dodgers cut the St. Louis Cardinals' National league lead to a mere half-game when they defeated the Philadelphia Phils, 8-2, before a capacity crowd of 31,708 at Ebbets' Field.

The Cardinals were idle.

The Chicago Cubs came up with four runs in the last half of the eighth to defeat the Pittsburgh Pirates, 5-3, and break a third place deadlock with the Braves.

Mort Cooper nabbed the first game for the Braves, 8-0, but the Giants won the second, 5-4. With Mickey Haefer outpitching Jess Flores, the Washington Senators shut out the Philadelphia Athletics, 2-0.

Laurel Race Meet Opens October 2

Laurel, Md., Sept. 27—Activity is increasing steadily as the date draws near for the opening of Laurel Park's 25-day meeting next Wednesday, October 2. Arrival of Trainer F. A. Bonsal, Jr., with 26 horses including New Moon and The Doge, candidates for the Capital Handicap on opening day, was the highlight of the last few hours on the local scene.

Bonsal announced that both horses will go in the Capital, a six furlong dash for $10,000. Each horse last year won a division of the same race when there were so many entries it had to be divided. New Moon races in the colors of H. L. Straus of Reisterstown, Md., while The Doge belongs to the Pentagon stable of Mrs. Barclay Henry and Mrs. Jay Secor of New York.

State Labor Chief Answers Dent Charge

Harrisburg, Sept. 27 (AP)—James L. McDewitt, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor, in a letter to John Dent, Democratic candidate for lieutenant governor, said that "we have no one in the employ of the Federation who holds a political job of any description whatsoever."

McDewitt said he sent the letter yesterday after published reports had quoted Dent as saying that "a majority of the Federation's (15-man) executive council has been employed by the Republican party in and out, on the official payroll."

Dent was reported to have made his accusation on the heels of the Federation's announcement that it would withhold support of its 450,000 members from any one group of candidates at the November election and adopt an attitude of strict neutrality.

In his letter McDewitt added that "I am still hoping that you will reply to my correspondence by saying that you have been misquoted."

Eleven Killed In Indian Riots

Bombay, Sept. 27 (AP)—Eleven persons have been killed in renewed Hindu-Muslim rioting in Bombay, Calcutta, Dacca and the Taj Mahal city of Agra, in the last two days.

Salary Increase For Ministers Approved

Harrisburg, Sept. 27 (AP)—A salary increase, providing for a $2,000-a-year minimum for all ministers, was approved last night at the closing session of the East Pennsylvania Conference of the Church of the United Brethren in Christ.

A resolution was also approved urging all member churches to plan special services for Sunday, November 17, the day after the merger of the United Brethren and the Evangelical church goes into effect. The merger will take place at Johnstown on November 16.

Bishop J. Balmer Showers announced at the closing session of the conference the ordination of four men to the ministry and read the stationing committee's report assigning ministers for the year.

fired on the rioters and later imposed a 24-hour curfew. The city was reported quiet today.

Three persons were killed and two were wounded by knifings in Calcutta, scene in mid-August of the bloodiest communal riots in its tumultuous history.

In Bombay, one was killed and about a dozen were injured in stabbing and stoning incidents. Scores were killed here earlier this month. B. G. Kehr, Bombay premier in the Legislative Assembly appealed to all elements to do their utmost to maintain the peace.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO
Eckenrode Is Elected Head of Legion Here: William B. Eckenrode was elected commander of the Albert Lenz post of the American Legion at the annual election held Monday night at the post home. The other officers elected are:
Norman Morrison, first vice commander; Robert Rex, Taneytown, second vice commander; J. P. Butt, finance officer; Earl Hartzell, Fairfield, adjutant; William Allison, Ardenstville, historian; Bernard Partidge, chaplain, and John Lauver, sergeant at arms.
Mr. Eckenrode, who has been active in Legion affairs for many years, succeeds Dorsey Rebert as commander.

Begin Picking County Apples:
Apple picking has begun in this section; orchardists state that picking will be in full swing inside of a week or so.

The market for apples is dull. Grimes Golden are selling for 50 cents to $1 a bushel while Jonathans are bringing 75 cents to $1 a bushel.

Local Men At Legion Meet: Four Legionnaires from the Albert J. Lenz American Legion post of Gettysburg, attended the national convention of the American Legion in Detroit the past week. None of them were delegates from the local post.

William B. Eckenrode headed the party. The others in the party were Harry Hartzell, Fairfield, and Norman Tate and Fred Leader, both of Gettysburg. They traveled by automobile.

Mrs. D. J. Forney III in Hospital: Mr. and Mrs. John Crawford, of Ohio, assumed active management of Graeffenburg inn west of here, on Monday. The same day Mrs. David Forney was admitted to the Warner hospital here, and on Friday submitted to a serious operation. Mrs. Forney leased Graeffenburg inn in February, 1930.

Parents Learn Plans for Band of Youngsters: Considerable interest was shown by more than 200 parents of Gettysburg school children who attended a meeting at the high school Friday evening to learn plans for the organization of a junior school band here.

As a result of the meeting about 30 parents signed up for the trial plan. Indications were given that between 50 and 75 children would be signed up for the proposed musical organization.

H. T. Nelson, Carlisle, former trumpet soloist with Sousa's band and later with the Chicago symphony orchestra, explained the system by which children are furnished instruments and music for the month during which they are given instruction. At the end of that time, if he shows no aptitude for the instrument, he may return it.

Lloyd C. Keefeauver, supervising principal of the local schools, is co-operating with the organization of the junior band, and has agreed to allow Edwin S. Longenecker of the high school faculty, to give the children instruction during school hours.

Sewage System Called "Public Menace" by Petition to Pinchot: With petitions setting forth that Gettysburg's sewage disposal plant constitutes "a public menace" and that unless existing conditions are remedied, "the property, lives and health of the citizens will be greatly damaged," a committee of local residents sought and were promised the support of Governor Pinchot in Harrisburg, Wednesday afternoon.

After receiving a copy of the petition, which was signed by 159 residents of Gettysburg, the governor assured the committee he would see that immediate relief is forthcoming. He urged the committee to return if no tangible relief is forthcoming at once. Mr. Pinchot then notified Dr.

Today's Talk

ONE FAITH
Thomas Paine, whose one great ambition was to live in a free world with justice done to all, was even denied the freedom of a Christian burial in America. During the darkest days of the American Revolution, his was the voice that sounded clearest and which rang with courage. They were times, he said, that tried men's souls. Washington welcomed his presence, which cheered his Continental soldiers to greater deeds.

Today, I am told, however, that this is the simple inscription upon Thomas Paine's grave: "The world is my country—mankind are my friends, to do good is my religion." That would be a good motto to be spread in the hall where the representatives of the nations of the world now meet in New York city, trying to piece out a pattern for perpetual peace.

What this troubled world needs most of all is one Faith—one faith in all humanity, one faith in God, and one faith in the ultimate triumph of freedom and justice to the humblest of this earth.

This one faith embodies all faith in oneself, faith in those who are our representatives in government, faith in the honest efforts of others, and faith in goodness itself. We can't do much, and we can't get very far, at any time of our lives, without this faith—that has demonstrated, again and again, that impossible things can be achieved!

There is a book in my library, which contains the speeches of the late President Coolidge. The name of the book is: "Have Faith in Massachusetts." Well, if we are to hope for a better world, we must have faith in a better world. It's full of several billion people, and it's their faith that we must revive and make genuine, if there is to be a better world. Quarrelling and name calling in the great councils, where plans for this better world are discussed, won't add to the faith of these people whose hopes and prayers have for so long remained unanswered.

The world is already saturated with too much fear. Its only antidote is a baptism of faith, in which, or through which, it may again hold its head high, and "praise God, from whom all blessings flow!"

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "This Temple."

"HAD TO PAY"
Used to hear it many a day:
"This is what I had to pay!"
Shoes or bonnet, coat or hat,
Home she'd come to tell me that.

Always I would hear her say:
"This is what I had to pay!"

Used to smile, those happier days,
Hearing such a well-worn phrase.
Used to chuckle in reply:
"No one ordered you to buy;
Could have turned and gone away;
No one said you had to pay!"

Used to think it just her way,
Telling me, "I had to pay."
Wives of other men, I've heard,
Use that sentence, word for word.
Home from shopping, always they Tell them this: "I had to pay!"

Used to smile at it back then!
Now, to hear it once again
I'd rejoice at all she'd spent,
Pay the bills and be content.
Glad I'd be to have her say:
"This is what I had to pay!"

WHO'S KILROY? HE WAS THERE AROUND WORLD

By ARTHUR EDSON
Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—The statistic-saving, record-revering army has the lowdown on 10,000,000 World War II soldiers, but it admitted today that on its most famous member it hasn't a word.

Who is this noted warrior?
All over the globe, in the most surprising places, GI's have scrawled the words:

"Kilroy was here."
Who was Kilroy? Whence came he? How spread his fame from camp to camp, from division to division, from continent to continent?

An army major, of the Kilroy research corps, told a reporter there is only one answer to these questions: "Nobody knows."
Everybody Doing It
One version says it started with a Sergeant Kilroy, in a camp in Kansas. He was marked absent from some detail and his name was posted. Indignantly Kilroy scratched out his name and wrote, "Kilroy was here." Soon everybody was scratching.

Another version had Kilroy in the Air Force. He was separated from his pal, a fun-loving character. Wherever this fun-loving Joe went he wrote the words, "Kilroy was here," or suitable variations, just for the joy of it. And soon an eager army followed this pioneer.

Whatever his origin, Kilroy became a priceless addition to latrine literature. But he also showed up in highly respectable places, such as in the statue of liberty, and the dome of the nation's capitol. And what do the real, live Kilroys think of their invisible little namesake?

Real Ones Fed Up
"We're fed up with him," snorted ex-Sgt. Eugene Kilroy in an interview. "My three brothers and I were all in service. I was in Greenland, John Joseph was in England, William was in France, and Raymond, in the navy, was on both sides. "Man, the stuff we had to listen to! You can put this down, and you can write it big: "Kilroy was there, and he doesn't like it!"

U. N. POWERS TO INVESTIGATE POSE PROBLEM

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
(AP Foreign Affairs Analyst)

Trygve Lie's recent assertions regarding his investigative authority as secretary general of the United Nations have opened up a new field of interesting possibilities.

They may forecast a day when the Security Council will have before it not only the charges and counter-charges of disputing nations, but also a set of independent facts, gathered by regular U. N. agents, upon which to base its decisions.

Own Investigation

Lie, in connection with the recent Security Council argument over Greece, said he was reserving the right to make his own investigation.

The implications attracted little attention for the moment. There was more interest in the application of what seems to have become a fixed United States policy at Lake Success.

There is a widespread feeling at UN headquarters that many issues presented to the council have a pure propaganda objective; that in this case Russia was less interested or hopeful about a decision than in the council's qualities as a sounding board. So the U. S. fell back on its regular tactic of agreeing to every proposed investigation, but with the proviso that it should be all-inclusive and not merely directed at hand-picked incidents. The lime-light became too bright and the Slav bloc backed off without a decision.

Another Field Open

But another field was opened. Under the U. N. charter, the secretary general is authorized to call to the council's attention any matter which threatens peace. Since he must first determine that there is such a threat, the general interpretation of the clause is that investigative power is inherent.

This might mean that Lie could send his assistants to Greece, Yugoslavia and Albania and, on the basis of their findings, present the whole thing to the council again.

Of course much would depend upon how his agents were received at the other end. Nobody knows just what might happen if his power to send investigators clashed with the sovereign powers of individual U. N. members to keep them out.

Gardener's Report On DDT

Many readers have inquired over the last year about the use of DDT for controlling insects of the vegetable garden. Due to the lack of definite information, such questions could not be answered intelligently before the 1946 growing season. Now, with more information available, several doubtful points can be cleared up.

Like several other insecticides, DDT is still taboo on the edible parts of plants, such as green beans, cabbage and lettuce, especially after the plants near edible size. This is nothing new in gardening realms; it is now with DDT as it has been for years with other poisons merely sound judgment and good sense not to coat vegetables with a dangerous insecticide which cannot be safely washed or stripped off.

As warned here last spring, DDT is primarily a household insecticide when mixed in solutions, such as the mixtures available for combating house flies. Such solutions applied on plants usually kill the plant as well as the insect. Many of these are prepared in an oil base and are not intended for use on plants.

This fact is better understood by observing that there are four general types of DDT insecticides—(1) Powders to apply as a dust; (2) Wettable powders which may easily be prepared into sprays; (3) Emulsions to be diluted with water and applied as a spray; and (4) Solutions to be applied as they are purchased.

The first two—powder to be applied as dust, and wettable powder for spraying, are the only forms intended for general garden or plant roles. Solutions, as already mentioned, are primarily for combating household pests. And the emulsions should be employed on plants solely under expert advice or after adequate experience.

Tests and experience show DDT is not effective against the Mexican bean beetle, certain kinds of plant lice, and red spiders.

The lethal content of wettable powders vary; therefore, in all cases the manufacturer's directions, as they appear on the container, should be followed.

Apparently plants of the cucurbit family—cucumbers, melons, squashes, pumpkins and cantaloupes—are injured by DDT. There have been several reports of injury to tomatoes and peas, but authorities believe such cases were the result of local or other conditions and do not indicate DDT cannot be used on these two vegetables.

A 3-per cent dust mixture is generally effective against the Colorado potato beetle but does not kill potato aphids. However, the 3-per cent dust repels or kills potato flea beetles and leafhoppers.

London, Sept. 27 (P)—Reuters reported in a New Delhi dispatch today that Maj. John Stewart Donald, British political agent, kidnapped by tribesmen June 21 and later released, had been found shot to death in a northwest frontier Province in India.

Donald and two other members of the British agency staff were held captive two weeks by the tribesmen before their release was negotiated.

The dispatch gave no details of his death.

GOP WOMEN HEAR REECE

Philadelphia, Sept. 27 (P)—Defeat of the Democratic ticket in the November elections will be a defeat "of the forces of reaction, totalitarianism and misrule in America," says Carroll Reece, chairman of the Republican national committee.

"A victory for the Democrat-PAC-Communist ticket in November would restore the leftists under (Henry) Wallace and (U. S. Senator Claude) Pepper (of Florida) to their posts of influence in Washington," Reece told a dinner meeting of delegates attending the 4th biennial convention of the National Federation of Women's Republican clubs last night.

"This is no unusual election," Reece declared, "x x x a vote for the candidates of the Democrat-PAC-Communist alliance is a vote for Wallace and Pepper x x x and appeasement of Stalin. You may be sure it will be so interpreted in Pravda."

The women, who represent 400,000 GOP club members in 41 states and the District of Columbia, end their two-day convention today.

Reece said the recent resignation of Wallace, who openly opposed the present U. S. foreign policy, and "the President's role in this disgraceful episode confirms Republican charges of undue left wing influence."

Main business centered today around discussion of "the working woman in the post war world."

controlled by the 3-per cent dust.

Numerous insect problems are yet to be solved in the light of DDT. The editor will appreciate letters from readers who have experimented with this new insecticide on plants other than those mentioned here, especially with insects of ornamental plants.

Experiments continue to prove that DDT residues are injurious to man and higher animals.

Emergency Vegetable Burial

Here is a safe and handy method of burying vegetables for family use over winter by which the labor of opening several mounds to obtain a supply of each crop is reduced to one simple operation. It is what one of our readers once called the "succotash" method.

Farmers and gardeners who bury the main crops of their potatoes, apples, cabbage, beets, carrots, turnips and other hardy crops in separate mounds know only too well how much labor is required to obtain edible supplies of each when the ground is frozen hard in winter. Often it is the work of hours, and in extremely inclement weather the task may prove impossible for several days.

By this "succotash" method large crops, especially where they are buried for late sale as well as over-winter home consumption, are buried to themselves in one or more large mounds. Then there are two ways for the utility burial.

Barrels, such as flower or other lightly constructed types, are filled with a mixture of hardy vegetables—potatoes, sweet potatoes, cabbage, a few clumps of celery on top, rutabagas, beets, turnips, parsnips and carrots. A well-drained spot is selected and the barrel laid on its side and covered with dry straw. Sufficient soil is heaped over the vegetation to hold it in place. Later more soil is added until the covering is sufficient to prevent the vegetables freezing.

When the cellar or basement supply of these vegetables runs out in winter the top end of the barrel can be reached by removing the soil and straw. Then it is an easy matter to procure an emergency supply of all buried vegetables to replenish the cellar or basement store.

A more liberal method is to pile the vegetable mixture in a conical or ridged heap, separating each kind from its neighbors by a thin layer of straw. By this method three or four or even more pits are buried, enough vegetables included in one pit to last for at least a week or two. Then, when the pit is opened, all the soil is removed and all the vegetables transferred to the cellar or basement.

Due to their ease of burial cab-

ADMINISTRATION FOREIGN POLICY GIVEN SUPPORT

By D. HAROLD OLIVER

Washington, Sept. 27 (P)—The Democratic leadership at home and abroad reaffirmed its faith in the administration's foreign policy today and moved to unify the party on all fronts before the November elections.

In a 1,000-word restatement of principles, the Executive committee of the Democratic national organization declared that the party has "forsaken isolationism and appeasement."

Then, evidently mindful of the intra-party rift created by Henry Wallace, it added:

"The American delegation at the Paris Peace conference is struggling patiently and firmly for the advancement of these principles of peace—and the American people will back them to the limit."

World Reassured

Simultaneously, Secretary of State Byrnes—with whose policy Wallace collided in his American-Russian "spheres of influence" speech—asserted at Paris that Mr. Truman's statement last week backing up Byrnes had reassured the world.

It was Byrnes' first utterance on the controversy which reached its climax when Mr. Truman fired Wallace from the cabinet. Byrnes' statement to a news conference in the French capital said America's foreign policy is bi-partisan and this fact is "assurance to the world that regardless of which party is in power, the United States is going to stand by the policy he (Mr. Truman) has followed and is following today."

Praise Truman

In its declaration here, the Democratic Executive committee reaffirmed the aims of the 1944 platform, praised Mr. Truman's leadership, and—with apparent reference to Republican criticisms that the party is still running on the Roosevelt program—declared in a separate resolution:

"Not only do we have in America an enlightened and responsible government faithfully adhering to the humane and progressive principles of Roosevelt; we have a program created by President Harry S. Truman as a statesman and leader in his own right."

bag need not be included in the "succotash" pit, as the heads are not injured by light freezing and they can therefore be covered by less laborious means.

Either by the barrel or pit method some apples may be included for emergency purposes.

Of course, the keeping of vegetables depends largely on how well surface moisture escapes after the vegetables are buried. This is the chief reason why shallow covering is advised at first. But a safer method is to build a ventilation flue of four boards, three or four inches wide, with the flue bored full of holes when set in the center of a vegetable heap. If used with the barrel method no holes will be necessary. The flue extends through the crest or tip of the ridge or conical pit and is protected from rain and snow with loose vegetation or a raised board covering. Wire netting may be wise to bar rodents.

Where such ventilation is provided it is possible to bury vegetables with less storage losses than where the crops are kept in a poorly ventilated cellar or a basement where the temperature ranges too high.

The editor invites all questions readers wish to ask on winter storage of vegetable and fruits.

Apple Troubles After Harvest
Ils affecting apples after they are harvested are divided into two main groups—parasitic and non-parasitic.

In plainer language, some diseases of apples in storage are caused by fungi or tiny disease organisms which enter the fruits before harvest or immediately afterward. These are called parasitic diseases. Then there are such diseases as bitter-pit, scald and water-core which are really caused by abnormal conditions and not by any parasite or fungus. These are known as non-parasitic diseases.

Application of the full schedule of sprays recommended for apples in each general region will help in most cases to reduce certain parasitic diseases which appear after harvest. And how the fruit is handled and conditions of storage control greatly the prevalence or absence of non-parasitic diseases. Here are a few suggestions:

Scald—Varieties of apples differ in their susceptibility to scald. The condition is believed to be caused by gases given off by the apples themselves. Dangers are reduced by allowing apples to ripen fully on the trees, by storing in open crates, boxes or barrels which permit free ventilation, by aiming to reduce apple temperatures or avoid heating during or immediately after harvesting, by use of oiled (not waxed) paper among the stored fruits.

Bitter-Pit—This disease is often called Baldwin Spot because it is widely prevalent on Baldwin apples. But it may affect Northern Spy, Grimes, Jonathan and a few other varieties. The Rome Beauty and Winesap are fairly resistant. Apparently heavy rains in late summer induce bitter-pit while dry seasons reduce the disease. Good orchard drainage is the only direct means of curbing this condition. Of course, badly affected apples should not be stored.

Jonathan Spot—While this disease is named after the variety it commonly attacks, other varieties are not immune. Unlike Bitter-Pit, Jonathan Spot can scarcely be detected at harvest time, but may appear only after-storage. Being non-parasitic, the condition cannot be controlled. Rushing apples from tree to as cool storage as possible is the best preventive. Jonathan spots often offer entrance places for rot organisms.

Water-Core—This non-parasitic condition is believed to be caused by high temperatures and bright sunlight as apples near maturity. There is no cure except to store fruits in a uniformly cool room, under which conditions the watery condition will disappear from most of the affected apples.

Here Is the Latest News about Chevrolet Deliveries

Everybody from factory to dealer is doing everything that can be done to speed deliveries to you

We have been informed by the Chevrolet Motor Division that the past month has witnessed only a slight improvement in the rate of production of new Chevrolet passenger cars. As a result, shipments of new cars to dealers for delivery are still far below the level we and the factory had hoped to attain by this time. In fact, through August, Chevrolet's output of cars in 1946 was only 22.6% of the number turned out during the corresponding period of 1941.

We know that Chevrolet is doing everything possible to step up its production totals—to ship more and more cars to us and to its thousands of other dealers throughout America... and we know, too, that we are assured of getting our full proportionate share of the current output and of future production gains.

Disappointing as the total figures have been—and despite the fact that Chevrolet was out of production entirely during the first three months of the year—it is nevertheless true that Chevrolet led all other manufacturers in production of passenger cars during June 1946, and has continued to maintain its lead in total production from that day to this.

We shall continue to make deliveries of new Chevrolets to our customers just as fast as we receive them; we regret delays as deeply as you do; we thank you for your friendly patience and understanding; and we promise you a new high motoring experience when you take delivery of your new Chevrolet, giving BIG-CAR QUALITY AT LOWEST COST!

Keep Your Present Car Alive

Meanwhile, may we suggest that you safeguard your transportation by bringing your car to us for service now and at regular intervals. Let us help you to keep it in good running condition—to maintain its performance, appearance and resale value—until the day when your new Chevrolet comes along.

November 19 Will Mark 60th Anniversary Of Dedication Of First Confederate Monument On Gettysburg Battlefield

Next November 19 will mark the 60th anniversary of the dedication of the first Confederate monument on the Gettysburg Battlefield, the Second Confederate Regiment of Maryland.

Ideal weather prevailed for the occasion, according to accounts of the ceremonies as published in The Star and Sentinel and The Compiler.

A G.A.R. post objected to the erection of the monument on the battlefield here, according to a news article in The Compiler under date of December 24, 1889, but apparently did not pursue its protest and finally withdrew its objection. The monument was erected according to plan.

On November 9, 1886, The Star and Sentinel published the following:

"The monument of the 2nd Maryland Confederate Infantry has been placed in position on Culp's Hill, near the site of the 20th Connecticut monument. It is said to be a handsome structure made of Richmond granite, and bears simple, historical inscription. It will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies on Friday, the 19th inst. We take the following notice of programme from the Baltimore Sun:

Commander On Program

"Capt. George Thomas of St. Mary's county, acting adjutant of the regiment at the battle, and who was badly wounded in the charge on the works July 2, will deliver the address. Rev. Dr. Randolph McKim, aide on Gen. George H. Stewart's staff, will be invited to open the services with prayer. The surviving members of the Second Maryland under Major W. W. Goldsborough, the Army and Navy society, and the Maryland Line, under Gen. B. T. Johnson, will be present. Gen. George H. Stewart, who commanded the brigade to which the Second Maryland was attached, will be the chief marshal. All ex-Confederates and their friends are invited. Much interest is manifested and it is expected a large number will attend. The occasion will be a most interesting one to Maryland people, for the monument will be the first Confederate memorial erected on the battlefield at Gettysburg, and will be under the auspices of the Maryland Regiment which participated in that battle, Commanded by the surviving officers who were present here.

"Excursion trains will be run on the Western Maryland railroad, returning in the evening. A fine military band will accompany the excursion and participate in the parade at Gettysburg. A meeting of the Confederate societies in the city will be held on the 17th inst. to complete arrangement."

Official Exercises

On November 23, 1886, The Star and Sentinel reported the dedicatory exercises as follows:

"On last Friday the monument erected by the Second Maryland (Confederate) Infantry, already described in our column, was formally dedicated. It is the first monument erected on this field marking the position of a Confederate command and consequently attracted a large attendance. The dedicatory exercises were witnessed by at least 1,500 people including several organizations of survivors of the Rebel army, a portion of the Fifth Maryland Regiment and many ladies from Baltimore as well as many of our own citizens. The first section arrived about 10:30 bringing the Fifth Regiment, Colonel Stewart Brown, commanding, with band and drum corps of 280 men. The second section with 14 cars containing the various associations and their riders arrived about a half hour later.

"The Fifth Regiment was drawn up in along the east side of Baltimore street and the survivors passed the Regiment which stood at present arms. The line of march was immediately taken up for the site of the monument on Culp's Hill arriving about 12:30.

A Dignified Address

"The assembly was called to order by General H. Stewart, who commanded the brigade in this battle and after brief introductory remarks by General Stewart, prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Randolph McKim, sole surviving member of the staff of General Stewart. Captain George Thomas, of St. Mary's county, who was adjutant of the Regiment in the battle, delivered the dedicatory oration. It was a dignified address, moderate in tone, containing little that was offensive to Union sentiment. The monument was received by John M. Krauth, Esq., and the exercises closed with benediction by Dr. McKim. The excursionists scattered over the field and at 4:30 took special trains for home. The weather was delightful and all the visitors expressed themselves pleased with their visit."

"The Monument Stays"

The Star and Sentinel, on December 24, 1889, reprinted the following article from the Baltimore Sun reporting the withdrawal of the G.A.R. protest:

"Major William T. Thelin, secretary of the Murray Confederate association has received the correspondence from Major W. W. Goldsborough of the Second Maryland Infantry, C.S.A., and John M. Krauth, secretary of the Gettysburg Battlefield association, relative to the monument of the Second Maryland Regiment at Gettysburg. The monument was erected November 19, 1886, by the survivors of the regiment to their comrades who fell in the battle, and was objected to by the Abbe Patterson Post, G.A.R., who requested its removal. Major Goldsborough's letter states that the monument was erected in accordance with an expressed desire of the association, and as it had been objected to, he asked on behalf of the survivors of his regiment if the association's views had changed since the erection of the monument, and if they desired its removal. Mr. Krauth replied that the question of removal of the Second Maryland Infantry, C.S.A. monument from the field had not been entertained or considered by the association. Permission was granted before it was erected. It was formally transferred and accepted, has been and will be cared for and protected."

The above photograph of the parade, preceding the dedication of the first Confederate (Second of Maryland) monument on the Gettysburg Battlefield passing through the square, is the only known one of record of this event. It was taken by Schmucker Duncan, formerly of West Lincoln avenue, now East Middle street, from a window on the third floor of the J. L. Schick building, now Dougherty and Hartley's, center square. Mr. Duncan used a rapid lens, drop shutter camera. The Fifth Regiment band of Maryland is shown heading the procession. On the right is the old McClellan House, now the Hotel Gettysburg. Hartley and Company electrical supplies building. Stevens Hall can be seen in the left background. The picture was taken November 19, 1886.

Couldn't Buy Meat
Camp authorities, including Mr. Thompson, Mr. Cookman and the camp steward, contend that they were unable to buy meat for the camp. They say they attempted to get meat through packing house representatives at Harrisburg with this result:

The packing house representatives told them they had vastly reduced supplies of meat. (OPA was back). They said that what meat they had was going to restaurants and retail outlets which had been their customers for years. They said that they could not take meat away from these outlets which had been buying their meat from them for year after year and sell it to the government for a seasonal proposition. So, camp authorities point out, they got no help in this quarter.

Probe Attack On Captain Of Ship

Philadelphia, Sept. 27 (AP) — FBI agents and shipping officials continued their probe today into an alleged attack on the captain of the Liberty ship Joyce Kilmer, which docked here last night with two crewmen recently released from irons.

Capt. Charles Perez, master of the former troop transport, said he was attacked by the crew members after he cancelled shore leave while the ship was tied up at Rouen, France. "I was afraid of a second attack on my life, so I put the men in irons for the (return) trip," he explained in a report.

The coast guard and FBI agents, who had been notified by Diekmann, Wright & Pugh, Inc., agents for the ship, that there was "trouble aboard," were waiting when the vessel docked.

In addition, growers furnish transportation to and from camp to the orchard or farm.

The Bahamians are strictly agricultural workers, Mr. Thompson pointed out. They are not allowed to work in food processing plants.

Another payroll contained the names of eight Bahamians. Their net earnings, after deductions, were: $83, $83, $60, $75, $77, $70, $81 and $80.

A visit was made to Camp Sharpe by this writer Thursday. The barracks are equipped with cots, ranged on both sides, with a long corridor down the middle, broken by heating stoves. The barracks appeared clean and neat. Each cot was covered with a blanket. Clothing was hung on hangers and hooks at the head of each cot.

Clean Housing
Lavatories and showers were in a separate building. They resembled those in many army camps. There were no tile showers and porcelain tubs, but the concrete floors of the shower rooms appeared clean. There were rows of individual wash bowls.

The mess hall was also clean. There was considerable water on the wood floors, indicating that they had just been cleaned. Large metal food trays were stacked ready for the evening meal. They were similar to the "blue plate special" plates used in restaurants, except for size and shape. They were larger.

In the kitchen were shelves showing various kinds of canned vegetables and fruits. There were also bags of flour, potatoes, onions and cabbage. In the refrigerator unit hung several large pieces of beef. "The Bahamians were brought here at a time when they were badly needed," said Mr. Thompson. "They are giving generally satisfactory service. We have very few complaints from growers."—CP.

Delaware, New Jersey and Georgia were the only states of the original 13 which ratified the Constitution unanimously.

Blame Republicans

When the President replied that he stood on his statement, the reporter asked whether Mr. Truman disagreed with Hannagan.

Waving the paper from which he had been reading, the President said the facts were in there and that if Hannagan differs with them, then the two men did not agree.

Later Hannagan told newsmen there is no disagreement between him and the President, that he is not working for meat decontrol.

The party resolution stabbed at the GOP, contending that the meat shortage "has resulted from the blind opposition of Republican members of Congress to adequate control measures."

TRUMAN BLAMES CONGRESS FOR MEAT SHORTAGE

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
Washington, Sept. 27 (AP)—Risking party discord in the midst of the Congressional election campaign, President Truman stood firm today for keeping meat under OPA ceilings—with no boost in prices.

The chief executive made this unmistakably clear by setting forth his own views on the surging clamor over empty meat counters.

Emphasizing that he regards the situation as a shortage and not a "famine," Mr. Truman brushed aside demands of some Democratic leaders for a 60-day suspension of meat ceilings. That period would extend beyond the November elections.

In doing so, the President predicted there will be more and a better grade of meat available "in the near future." He said he saw no need for a special session of Congress to deal with the situation.

Mr. Truman blamed the "extraordinarily large" slaughter of cattle and hogs during the July-August lapse of ceilings for the current lack of meat.

ably be found throughout the county.

During the last several years the number of troops has increased by about 15 with each troop established on its own without any county organization.

Good Investment Financially
"The cost of maintaining a Girl Scout troop is negligible," Doctor Hale continued, "one delinquent girl can cost the county $5,000, so the small amount of money spent in preventing just one girl from getting into the wrong kind of company is really a saving."

The Girl Scout organization is not an organization to cure delinquent girls, but an organization designed to prevent delinquency by providing wholesome activities for the girls of the community. Miss Natalie Johnston of the Washington office of the Girl Scouts told the group.

The Girl Scout program begins with the Brownies, for girls 7 to 10, and then follows through with the Girl Scouts for girls 10 to 14 and the Senior Scouts for girls 14 to 18. Each different age group has its own program, suited to the age of the girls, Miss Johnston said.

Talks on Activities
Miss Letitia Caldwell also of the Washington office of the Girl Scouts, told the group that the Girl Scout program covers all types of activities from home making to woodcraft.

Among those who attended the session Thursday were Mrs. Arnold, Mrs. Charles Fellman, Cashtown; Mrs. John L. Kratzert and Mrs. R. Stoner Welty, New Oxford; Mrs. Lott; Mr. and Mrs. Dean Stover, Littlestown; Mrs. Mervin U. Bream, Mrs. Lighter, Mrs. Harold Pegg, Mrs. Paul Mehring, Mrs. Coleman, Mrs. L. F. Eisenberger and Miss Lindora Roddy, all of Gettysburg, Doctor and Mrs. Hale and Mrs. Charles Gentzler and Mrs. Ray Fissel, East Berlin. While that group made up the steering committee others are to be added to the list in the near future Mrs. Arnold said.

Mr. Truman blamed the "extraordinarily large" slaughter of cattle and hogs during the July-August lapse of ceilings for the current lack of meat.

Slap At Lawmakers
He also laid a share of the blame squarely at the door of Congress, declaring in his news conference statement yesterday:

"If, as I had urged upon the Congress, the price control legislation had been re-enacted in the early spring, many of these difficulties would have been avoided."

This direct slap at the lawmakers, apparently applying to many Democrats as well as Republicans, was not the only political overtone of Mr. Truman's declaration for sticking with ceilings.

Even while the President's news conference was in progress, Mayor Kelly of Chicago was calling for a two-month moratorium on meat price controls. Kelly is a member of Democratic party's executive committee, which met here yesterday.

Earlier, house majority leader McCormack of Massachusetts had demanded that meat controls be lifted for 60 days.

On top of this, the party's executive committee directed Democratic Chairman Robert E. Hannagan to discuss with the price-decontrol board "and any other proper authorities ways and means of increasing the meat supply available to the American people."

Mr. Truman was informed of this resolution by a reporter who said he regarded it as an instruction to seek the removal of ceilings.

MOTHER OF 4 IS STABBED; SLAYER DIES

Pittsburgh, Sept. 27 (AP) — An attractive North Side mother of four children was found stabbed to death today, and a man sought by police in the slaying plunged to his death from the North Side-West End bridge.

The dead were Mrs. Mary Giovengo, about 38, and Michael Milinaric, 52, a laborer.

Mrs. Giovengo, who had been keeping company with Milinaric, was found lying in a pool of blood in the first floor hallway of her house. There were several stab wounds in her chest, throat and left arm.

Police said there was evidence of a struggle, indicating she was caught by the killer as she ran for the door. Neighbors reported hearing a rumour in the house.

Note Is Found
Milinaric was found lying on the ground beneath the bridge. He was pronounced dead on arrival at Allegheny general hospital.

A blood-stained hunting knife and note were found alongside the body of Mrs. Giovengo. Part of the note was obscured by blood. The first part read:

"You tell the neighbor you take the money from me and then you make fun out of me. But you'll be sorry but it will be too late. For CATTLE—Receipts at the close of this week were extremely light. The run was made up chiefly of cows and feeder steers. Outside buyers again took the bulk of the supply and a fair sized portion of the fat steers receipts. Local and big packer buyers bought low-grade cows, maintaining that higher grade slaughter cattle were not within compliance limits.

Slaughter steers active and steady with earlier this week. In this division, approximately 30 slaughter steers, in small lots, $15-19.50, these graded low to top-grade, $40-115 pounds, $19.50, the top for the day.

Heifers also active and steady with earlier this week. In this division, a single top-grade grass-fat, $19, top this class. Medium to average-good grass-fat, $15-17, and common lightweight, of dairy-breeding to $11. Cows, 25-50c, lower than Wednes- day. Medium beef cows, largely $11-12.50, few higher-yielding individuals, $13-13.50, and a small supply of good heifer-type, $14-15. Common cows carrying fat and flesh but aged and "hippy" $9.50-10.50. Can- ners and cutters, $7.50-9, with shelly lightweight canners, $4.50-7.

Bulls steady at selling. Both good beef and sausage bulls one price, $14.10. Cutter, common and medium, $10-12.50, few as compared with earlier this week. Several lots of medium to top-grade, 715-950-pound native feeder steers, $15-18, with common of color, $13-13.50.

CALVES—Vealers active steady with Wednesday. Local outlet somewhat hampered by quota limitations but outside demand broad enough to absorb the day's receipts. Practical top and popular price $20.50. Mixed lots of good and choice 120-220-pound vealers, $17.50, mainly $18.50. Common and medium, $12-17, and culls $10, with some underweights to $5.

HOGS—Receipts extremely light, so light in fact that not enough hogs offered to make a market. Inquiry broad on the part of all interests and quotations unchanged at selling. All barrows, gilts, sows and stage grading from medium to choice quotable $16-30.

SHEEP—Spring lambs active and steady with Wednesday. Practical top and popular price $21. Lightly sorted lots of good and choice 80-100-pound spring lambs, $20.50, mainly $21. Mixed lots of medium good, $17-20. Common lambs, $15, and lightweight culls, under 50 pounds, to $10. Slaughter ewes active and 50 cents higher than Wednesday. Good and choice shorn slaughter ewes with No. 1 top, $18-20. Common and medium, $4-7.50 and few culls to $3.

GERMANS FEEL 21 DEFENDANTS ARE 'GUILTY'

Berlin, Sept. 27 (AP)—A public opinion survey conducted by the American Military Government indicated today most Germans believe the 21 defendants at Nuremberg are guilty of planning the war and almost half expect death sentences for the accused.

The trials are "erving the intended purpose of bringing to light the story of war atrocities and in-structing the German people of their leaders' guilt", AMG an- nounced.

Of the persons interviewed 57 per cent indicated they first learned about concentration camps through the trials and 30 per cent said they first learned about annihilation of the Jews.

Seventy per cent of the Germans polled said all defendants were guilty, nine per cent named at least one defendant they considered in- nocent, one per cent held none was guilty and 20 per cent ventured no opinion.

Rudolf Hess was named most frequently (by five per cent) as in- nocent. Others mentioned by one to two per cent of the Germans in-terviewed were Von Papen, Von Neurath, Raeder, Doenitz, Keitel, Speer and Schacht.

"The guilt of the defendants is, without a doubt, established in the minds of the German people," the announcement said. "The guilt of the indicted organizations is accepted by a somewhat smaller majority."

Interesting News From Littlestown And Vicinity; Report From Council

Shortage Of Canned Corn And Tomatoes Reported In Littlestown; Had Blight

The Littlestown area's two present canning crops, corn and tomatoes, are both falling far short of normal yield a check with growers and canners disclosed today.

Estimates of the tomato crop put the amount at one-half the normal yield with the blight receiving the blame for the loss. The corn on the other hand suffered from the wet weather this spring which held up the planting until late in the season on many farms and then cold damp weather throughout most of the season completed the destruction.

The tomato production ranged from "good" to "no good", with no overall figure attempted by any canner or grower when questioned.

Some Good Yields

William Snyder, who farms near Littlestown just over the Maryland line, has already harvested 56 tons of tomatoes from a five acre patch, giving him over 11 tons per acre.

Clarence Warner, whose farm is owned by O. M. Mathias, has harvested 100 tons from an 18 acre section and is still harvesting.

Those two represent the brighter side of the picture. On the other side are the fields that have been practically wiped out by the blight. Other fields were partially destroyed by the same disease.

One farmer described it as the fastest spreading disease that has ever hit the tomatoes. Comparing the blight to the flu epidemic of World War I, he pointed out that fields miles removed from other fields that had the blight suddenly had the disease although there was no apparent way in which it could have gotten there unless it was carried by the wind.

One Littlestown cannery which annually produces about 50,000 cases of corn and 80,000 to 100,000 cases of tomato juice this year expects to pack only about 25,000 cases of canned corn and about 45,000 cases of tomato juice.

CARROLL SHOE SLOWED DOWN BY SHORTAGES

A shortage of essential materials in the manufacture of shoes caused the "slowdown" in production at The Carroll Shoe Company plant in Littlestown this week and tempered the "assembly line" almost to a walk, an unusual experience in that plant.

Robert J. Kenworthy, plant manager, said that he felt confident the shortage would be alleviated within the next two weeks at which time he expected to find the production line moving at its customary speed.

The shortage is attributed to a curtailment in the manufacture of some of the raw materials and the delivery failure of other products, used in the manufacture of shoes, by the truckers' strike in New York city.

Sneakers and Slippers

Materials secured in the New England area for the Littlestown plant could not be moved through New York city because of the truck strike with the result that the Carroll Shoe workers were reduced to a "slow speed" assembly line output.

Production this week centered around "sneakers" for youths and young men and men's house slippers.

The "sneakers" are made of heavy duck with rubber soles. Men's slippers are made of corduroy and "Ace of Diamond" material, a cotton and wool composition with a plastic quarter (heel).

Normal production of these articles is approximately 2,000 pairs a day each. The "slowdown" dropped the combined output to about 3,200 pairs of both products.

In about two weeks Mr. Kenworthy said he hopes to resume normal production on their fall line of casual shoes. He will need from 90 to 100 more employees to turn out approximately 6,000 pairs of shoes a day.

362 men and women are on the payroll at the present time.

TOWN COUNCIL HOLDS MEETING TUESDAY NIGHT

The Littlestown borough council Tuesday night voted to have national standard thread placed on the 1,000 feet of new hose ordered from the Fabric Fire Hose company. Henry E. Waltman, trustee of the Alpha Fire company, appeared before the council and said that by having standard thread on hose connections the need for using reducers or adapters would be eliminated.

The new hose recently ordered will equip two fire trucks, he said. All fire apparatus as well as most nozzles are standard thread. The present fire hose has a smaller coupling than the hose, which causes some of it to burst, Mr. Waltman said.

The street committee reported that some patching of alleys had been completed with the new tar kettle and upon completion of the installation of the eight-inch water main on Boyer street the necessary patching of the various alleys and streets, as set up in the county aid project would begin so that it could be completed before bad weather.

Adopt Ordinance

An ordinance pertaining to laying out, opening, widening, straightening, extending and ordaining the street from North Queen street to Park avenue to be known as Locust street was adopted.

The water committee reported completion of the six-inch water main extension project on Prince street to the Bonneauville road, along the Bonneauville road to the right of way to the sewage disposal plant from North Queen street and along North Queen street from the Bonneauville road to the present four-inch main at the R. L. Crouse garage. All back filling and grading was also reported as completed.

I. H. Crouse & Sons, to inv. 8/28/46, lead, $140.00-10%, $126.00.

Hanover Cordage Co., to 300 Oak-um, inv. 9/21/46, 72 disc., $35.28.

Littlestown Borough Authority, Inc., to interest payment on $85,000.00 non-debt revenue sewer bonds due, 10/1/46, $1,218.75.

Water fund account expenditures $2,121.91.

Grand total borough & water accounts expenditures, $3,331.92.

There being no further business, upon motion of Councilman Leister, seconded by Councilman Trostle, that, Council adjourn to reconvene, October 22, 1946, at 7:00 p. m., Eastern Standard Time. Motion carried.

Adjourned 11:25 p. m., EDT.

ROGER KEEFER, secretary

It was also reported that the eight-inch water main project for Boyer street had gotten under way and that the ditch digging had been completed from South Queen street to the property of Ralph V. Bowers, the end of the present development.

To Purchase Lumber

The necessary connections were made to the South Queen street line the night of September 23.

Council authorized the purchase of 2,000 feet of seasoned or dry white oak from H. H. Crouse, Hanover, for the two-inch oak flooring for the well bed, on recommendation of the water committee.

A motion was adopted to authorize the secretary to enter into an agreement for the leasing of "Insto-Gas" equipment and to purchase the necessary equipment to be used with it as furnished under the lease agreement for heating lead for installing the valves and fittings on the Boyer street water main project. The secretary reported that considerable trouble had been encountered in the slow heating of the lead by gasoline torches.

Order Heating Units

Council entered into a contract with I. H. Crouse and Sons for installation of three gas heating units in the Alpha fire house at a cost of $616.75. Only one bid had been received, and had been tabled August 23. The proposal is for a gas-fired heater in the truck room, to be operated automatically by thermostat, and two heaters on the second floor, not automatic.

Members of the Alpha fire company were under criticism of the borough council for the type of beverages served following meetings of the fire company in the Alpha building. Upon motion of Councilman Albert H. Kindig, seconded by

Chief Of Police Warns Speeders

Chief of Police Leon H. Gage stated today that speeding and reckless driving are too prevalent in the borough, and called attention to the speed limit of 25 miles an hour. The speed limit is plainly marked on signs which have been erected at all approaches to the borough, as well as at numerous places throughout the town. Speeding has been especially noticed on Maple avenue, on which the high school is located, and this endangers the lives of the school pupils at noon and at evening dismissal.

The state motor code provides a fine of $10 and costs for driving too fast for conditions, and this section of the code can be used to cover fast and reckless driving on Maple avenue, and other main sections of town. Driving in the borough over 25 miles an hour is a violation of a borough ordinance. These provisions will be enforced, the chief stated.

Councilman Edward H. Leister, members of the fire company were requested to refrain from such action in the future.

There was considerable discussion of the matter at the council meeting, according to the official minutes of Borough Secretary Roger J. Keefer, which say that "after discussing the matter it was generally believed that, from reports received by council, the parties held had become more numerous and since the fire company was more or less in line with the protection of property and safety of the public, it was better that these parties be avoided for the good of all concerned."

LITTLESTOWN BRANCH PLANT IS UNDERWAY

Workmen started construction this week on the new branch plant of the Carroll Shoe company at Bendersville. When completed the company will have plants in Littlestown, Bendersville and Bendersville employing upwards of 600 men and women, all from Adams county.

The new structure, a cement block, fire-proof building, will be 36 by 84 feet, one story in height. It will be similar in design and construction to the plant at Bendersville which is now operating at top-speed production.

Company officials said that the need for an additional plant in Adams county was felt some time ago and selection of a site was determined by the availability of workers. Bendersville merchants requested that the plant be erected there and after a survey of that territory it was selected as the logical site.

Need 70 Workers

The new building is being constructed at the foot of "White Town Hill," several hundred feet from the "square" on Carlisle street.

The plant will be electrically operated and equipped with an oil-burner furnace. It will be used for stitching only for the present, the finished shoe being completed at the Littlestown plant.

Between 60 and 70 men and women will be needed to staff the plant when it is placed in operation, expected to be about the first of the year.

Like the Bendersville branch of the Carroll Shoe company, the Bendersville plant is expected to be a valuable addition to the rapidly expanding Carroll Shoe firm.

All "local" labor will be employed and the men and women will be trained by a competent staff of experts.

The foundation for the new building is being laid this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Brown, Petersburg, Va., announce the birth of a son, David Earl, August 29, Mrs. Brown is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Feaser, West King street, Littlestown. Mrs. Feaser has returned home after spending three weeks with her daughter.

Francis J. Will New Commander

The Littlestown American Legion post elected Francis J. Will, World War I vet, as commander at the annual election Thursday night in the post home. There was a three-way contest for this office. Candidates elected to other offices were unopposed, and were as follows: First vice commander, Lewis H. Fox; second vice commander, Stewart Long; adjutant, Mark Frazer; chaplain, Joseph P. Long; sergeant-at-arms, Kenneth Steick; finance officer, Robert J. Sell; and trustee, Clarence J. Krichen, Sr. Mr. Krichen is the retiring commander.

The Legionnaires voted to change the name of the post from "John W. Ocker Post" to "Ocker-Snyder Post." Originally named to honor Littlestown's World War I casualty on the field of battle, the new name will honor both him and Littlestown's first casualty in World War II, Glenn A. Snyder.

O. M. MATTHIAS FARMS 730 A.; RUNS CANNERY

At 54 O. M. "Ol" Matthias can look back on a half century of farming, for his earliest memories go back to the days when as a child he learned the lore of agriculture from his father who in his day was one of the leading farmers in the Littlestown section, just as the son is today.

The Matthias farms cover 730 acres of land near Littlestown and the work that at one time caused the employment of 16 horses is now being done by two tractors.

"And it takes fewer men," Mr. Matthias points out, adding that "mechanization probably is the biggest improvement in farming over the last half century."

A reporter for The Gettysburg Times found the Littlestown area farmer engaged in rigging an electric wire across a pathway to prevent his herds of cattle from getting into a field of corn.

Farmer And Canner

He is willing to talk about the excellent work of one of his neighboring farmers, William Snyder, whose farm produced over 11 tons of tomatoes per acre this year. He is willing to talk about the good work of Clarence Warner who farms one of the Matthias farms. About himself he is more reticent.

Besides being a farmer all of his life he has been a canner for the past 22 years. He got into the canning business "almost by accident," he admits. A mill was for sale. He bought the mill and "rigged it up for canning." Since then the business has increased tremendously.

Every new farm machine as it has come into perfection has been added to the Matthias equipment from tractors to combines and on down the list. At the present time more tractors are on order and will be added to the equipment when available.

As to the future of farming, that, he admits, is a difficult question. But of one thing he is sure, methods and equipment will continue to improve.

Restaurants Are Threatening To Close

Washington, Sept. 27 (AP) — Restaurant keepers today backed their demands for OPA price relief with talk of widespread closings.

An official of the National Restaurant association told a reporter that restaurant groups all over the country are "getting more up in arms and setting dates for closing if they don't get relief."

Particularly at issue is an OPA order rolling back menu meat items to price levels of June 30. Also involved is the possibility of getting all restaurant charges out from under price control.

George R. LeSavage is both president of the Restaurant association and head of the OPA's restaurant industry advisory committee. This committee was called together today (10 a. m., EST) to talk over its problems in another closed session with OPA officials.

Should OPA refuse to ignore a formal decontrol plea, the industry could present its case to the independent Price Decontrol Board.

Rev. Joseph Mathews, former army chaplain, will be the speaker at Sunday school, morning worship, and evening youth services in Redeemer's Evangelical and Reformed church on Sunday, the pastor, Rev. Frank E. Reynolds, has announced.

Rev. Mathews has had a varied assortment of experiences, for one so young, in the ministry.

Following the battle of Okinawa, where he served as a chaplain in the 27th Infantry Division, he held evangelistic services for the natives. Rev. Mathews served three years of his chaplaincy in the Pacific, where he ministered both to our own men and to the natives of the many islands that his Division occupied during the war. ## Dig Another Grave

(AP Newsfeature)

Chapter 15

Martin dined in gloomy solitude at a lunch counter, having failed to reach Dexter by telephone at the Margrave. When he reached the hotel shortly before 9 o'clock Dexter had not yet returned, but he had left a note at the desk. It said: "I told you I'd pry you loose. Call Doran at the office and leave word where I can meet the two of you later."

—D.

Martin phoned Doran from the suite.

Doran asked, "Did you hear from the boss?"

"Ennis? No."

"He's been pestering me for hours wanting to get hold of you. Where are you now?"

"In Dexter's diggings."

"Stay there. He'll call and try to make up. Don't let me influence you, but if you fail to rejoin the staff, life will be less complicated."

"Then you aren't calling me at her suggestion?"

"Absolutely not."

"I didn't mean to be intrusive. It happens that Miss Ennis appeared downtown just in time to do me an important favor, which puts me under an obligation to her. I simply want to keep the record straight."

"I'm sure she'd prefer that you didn't feel any obligation, Martin. She did what she thought was best, and she'd have done the same if you had been anyone else. Don't be swayed for a moment by any such personal feeling."

In other words, thought Martin, he was being not too subtly reminded that there was a gulf between him and Barbara Ennis.

"It's settled, eh?" Ennis said. "We'll count on you?"

"I'll think it over."

"What is there to think about?"

"There are other considerations."

"Not another job? I'll meet any reasonable offer you may have had elsewhere."

"For a while today it looked as if I wouldn't be in a position to take any job."

"Nonsense. Everything will work out splendidly."

Someone rapped sharply on the door of the living room. Martin frowned. "I'll get word to you around the first of the week," he said.

Ennis, too, was impatient. "I'd prefer to settle it now, Martin."

"There's someone at the door. For all I know, it may be the police again." He raised his voice and called, "Come in." The doorknob rattled but the door remained closed; Martin remembered locking it.

Ennis voice was cautious. "Is it them?"

"I don't know. The door's locked."

"Will you call me tomorrow or Monday at the latest, Martin? Without fail?"

He said, "Yes" and "Good-bye." He cradled the phone and went to the door. He was not happy about Ennis' call; it had seemed something of a triumph for him at the beginning, but not now. There might be a gulf between the Kings and the Ennises, he was thinking, but it could not be wider or deeper than the gulf between Barbara and her father. The one was at this moment everything he wanted and admired; the other everything he detested.

He unlocked the door and opened it. Howard Morrissey stood there. Martin said without surprise, "Hello, Morrie. You look hot and bothered. Come in and relax."

DON'T NEED GUFFEY

Harrisburg, Sept. 27 (AP)—M. Harvey Taylor, State Republican chairman said he questioned a claim made by U. S. Senator Joseph P. Guffey that he and other Democratic supporters or President Truman are "needed" in Washington.

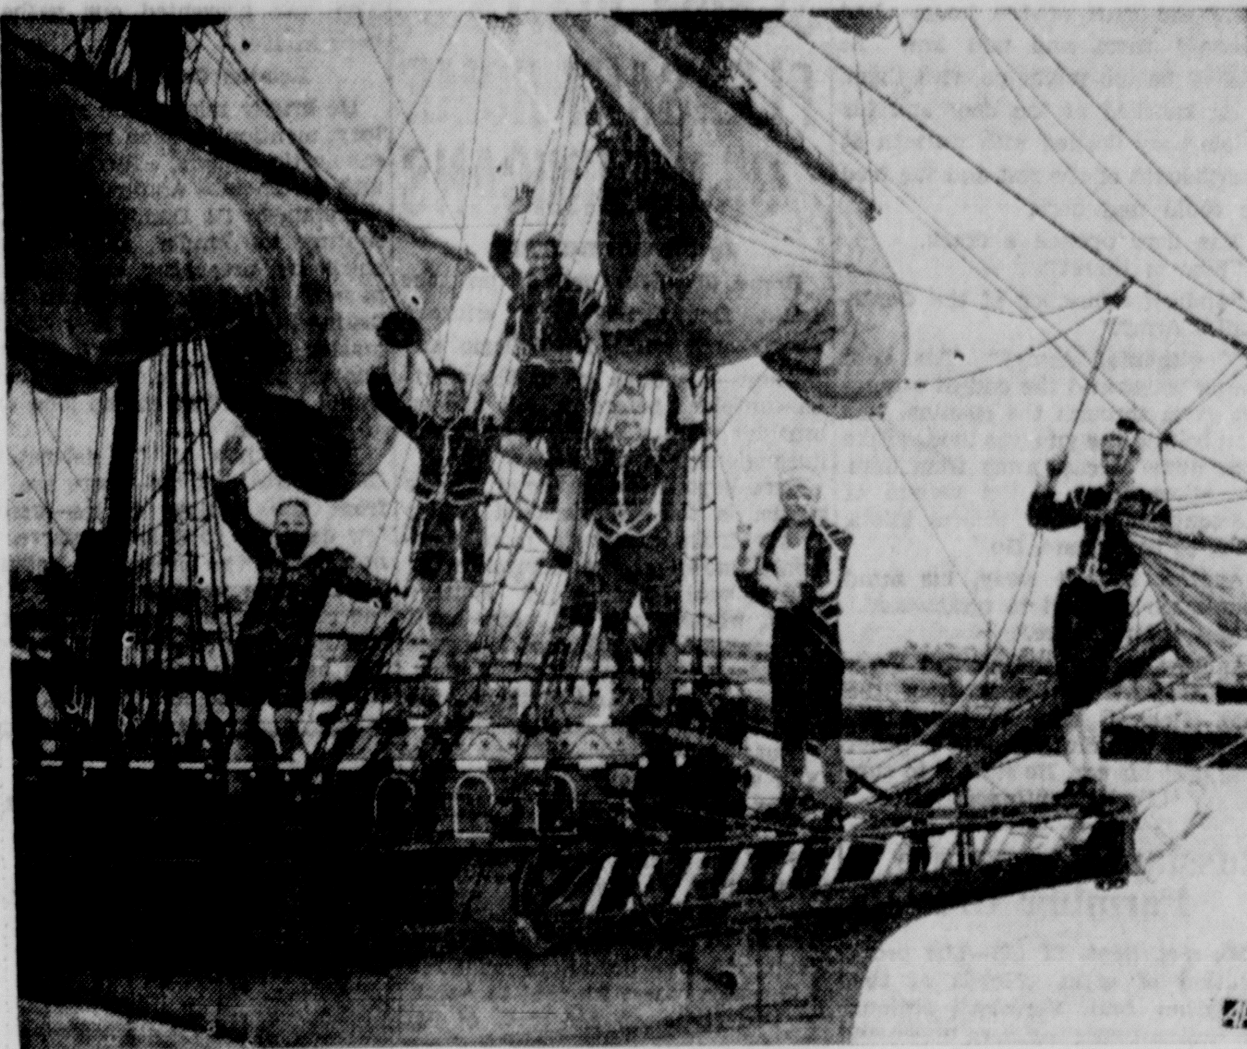

"We need Guffey about as much as a man with sun blisters needs a wire back-scratcher," said Taylor yesterday in a statement released by the Republican state committee.

"How can Guffey claim to be a supporter of President Truman when he marches with Henry Wallace and the rest of the communists?" asked Taylor.

The Republican chairman termed the Democratic party "the party of empty promises, phony liberalism, high handed regimentation and unchecked deficit financing."

Taylor added that Guffey and "his followers apparently operate on the theory that the people have short memories and that after eight years, the Democratic party can change its shirt and collar and appear as a dressed up model of virtue and honesty."

BERLIN'S WORK BEING DONE BY TIRED WOMEN

By IRENE ANGERSTEIN

Berlin (AP)—Her name is Mrs. Schulz and she's a "hausfrau" but you don't find her at home cooking. For one thing, there is not much to cook, and for another, she's too busy removing the rubble and debris from her once beautiful city.

They talk much of reconstruction in Berlin, but when it comes to action, it's women like Mrs. Schulz who are doing the work—the old women, the mothers, and the housewives. Day in and day out they are making neat piles of bricks from the junk heaps of masonry that once were houses and buildings.

They don't work for any altruistic reason, such as atoning for the evil Germany brought on the world. They work because it's a job to which they have been assigned by the labor office and through which they receive a worker's food ration card.

The "R R R"

"Of course I'd stay home if I could," says Mrs. Schulz as she doggedly swings a heavy hammer against a stubborn piece of rock. "You do not think that I like this job, do you?"

Whether she likes it or not, Mrs. Schulz and her colleagues, working in groups of about 200, have been steadily removing Berlin's rubble since last May. They have organized their daily labor into a real science.

Mrs. Schulz's particular gang of 217 women—they call themselves the "Reichstag Rubble Removers" because they work in the shadow of the once famed buildings—serves as a good example of all the crews of women swarming like so many ants over the city's rubble heaps.

The oddly dressed women—some wearing dresses which had seen better days, some ragged trousers made out of old blankets, and others sporting scarfs fashioned from rags, are a tired, beaten lot. They have worked long years in munition factories and fail to see why they have to bear the heavy burden now.

Resentful Toward Leaders

"How is it possible the Allies allowed things to go so far?" one bitter woman asked during the lunch hour. "Why did not the Allies interfere long before and prevent all this debris? We never wanted the war, but could do nothing against it."

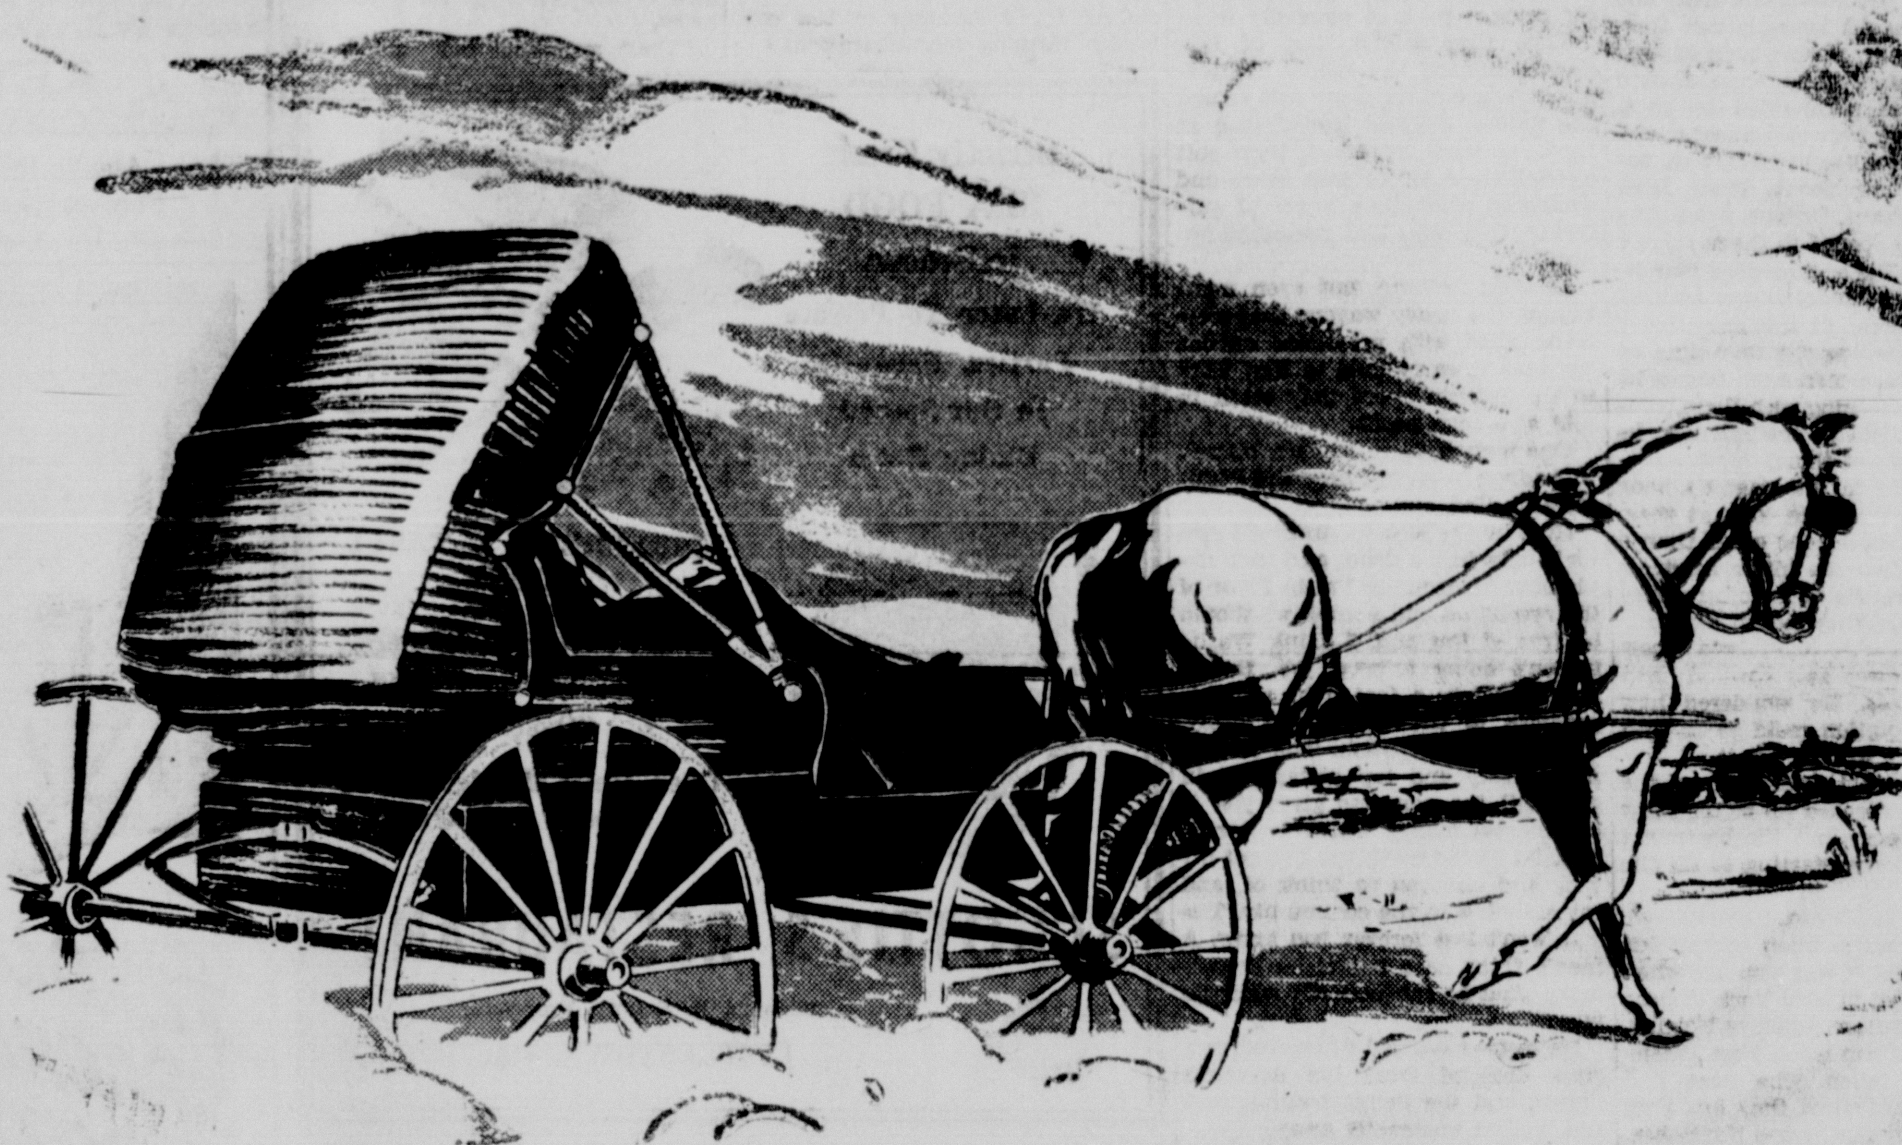

The women are particularly resentful toward the high Nazis now being tried at Nuremberg. To a woman like Mrs. Schulz, who lugs bricks eight hours a day in torn sandals, a newsreel shot of an extra pair of shoes under Hermann Goering's prison bed is bitter gall.

"Killing is too good for him," she exclaims. "Better he should do this work for years." As an afterthought, she added: "Then maybe we could go home."

PRICE GOES UP

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Sept. 27 (AP)—The Wilkes-Barre Publishing Company, publishers of the Record and The Times-Leader, morning and evening newspapers, respectively, announced today it has increased prices for the newspapers from three to five cents per issue.

but Dobbin had only 1 H. P.

Anybody could drive Dobbin. And when the young folks wanted to learn, why Dad, Uncle Bill or even Grandpa could give them lessons in a jiffy. But those were the horse and buggy day.

Now it's different. Dobbin's one horse power has been multiplied a hundred times—his jogging five miles per hour increased to fifty or more, and country roads have become crowded highways. Dangerous highways!

Learning to drive the automobiles of today demands expert instruction, so that young drivers will know how to control safely the power and speed at their command. Some high schools in Pennsylvania offer driver training courses, under experienced instructors. If there's one in your community, be sure your son or daughter enrolls in it. If not, get advice from the State Department of Education.

Experienced instruction will help make new drivers—safe drivers.

The Story Of Andrew Schreiber (Shriver) Early Town Settler

The cold that had started in the march from Hackensack continued into Newark. Wet and chilled, Andrew slept near where he had fallen when the army had first reached Newark. He awoke with a sharp hacking cough that weakened him almost as much as had the run from Fort Lee.

He was eating, chewing on a crust of hard bread, when the word came again to retreat, that the British were nearing Newark. Again began the disorderly race that had characterized the Continental army's retreat from Fort Lee.

As he ran past, with his company, Andrew saw Knox and Hamilton loading a 12 pounder with grape apparently planning to gain a few precious minutes for the army. He had gone but a short distance beyond the cannon when it went off with a roar. A few minutes later he heard its crashing roar reverberating again. There were a few more shots and then silence. Running, he heard cheers from the direction of the town. He glanced back and saw the British dragoons cheering from a housetop in Newark, spurring on the army that was spread out between Newark and New Brunswick. He ran on a little further and the redness before his eyes grew darker. There were sounds as of someone breathing heavily, apparently outside of him. Inside all was blackness and the beginning of warmth. His eyes focused for a second to see the roadbed shooting up at him and suddenly an arm shot out in front of him.

Where the wagon had come from Andrew did not know. The army had not had wagons when it ran from Newark. He lay on his back looking up into the sky and then noticed that he was surrounded by men. Some of them were still unconscious. Some of them, like himself, were beginning to stir about. Their faces were still vacant, curious, wondering what had happened to them.

All about the wagon were marching men and Andrew was startled to look at them. It suddenly struck him that this was the first time he had seen these men with whom he had lived. Marching with them, running with them in the retreats, he had been one of them.

Now, riding in the wagon among them he was able to look at them as if he were someone other than a soldier. He saw the bitter hardness of their faces, the torn clothing they were wearing. They looked like rabble and they acted like rabble. Their faces were dirty and covered with matted beards. He wondered how long the revolution could go on with such as these to fight for it.

Something cold struck him on the cheek and he looked up to see snow flakes, tiny ones, but the beginning of a snow storm, starting to fill the sky.

What had happened, he wondered. It had been warm when he had left the Conewago. It was summer when he had arrived in New York to hear of the retreat from Brooklyn Heights. It was still warm when Fort Washington had fallen. The heat had seemed intense when they left Fort Lee. Now, why now it was November, almost the end of the month, and snow was falling.

Barefoot Army
He looked down at the men's shoes. They had wrapped almost anything about their feet to replace the stockings that had long since fallen to pieces. The soles were gone from the shoes of many. Some were barefoot except for wrappings about their feet.

He looked at his own shoes. He, the shoemaker, was wearing a pair of shoes from which the toes had been torn. Sitting there as the wagon jogged along, his shoulders bouncing into his companions seated beside him, he looked dully at his shoes and wondered why he did not repair them.

At New Brunswick Lieutenant Kitzmiller looked long at Andrew. The brewer was hobbling now, his body crippled with rheumatism, his feet worn raw.

"Do you think you can make it home, Andrew?" the officer asked.

"Andrew, do you think you can make it home?" Kitzmiller asked again more sharply. The worn scarecrow of a man had not answered the first time, had stood gaping silently.

"Home," Andrew answered and tears came into his eyes. "You cannot last the winter. Your enlistment has expired. It is time for you to go home and have the home ready for your sons when they return," Kitzmiller added.

Andrew nodded dumbly and started away. Then turning, "I can make it."

Warned By "Home"
His linen shirt and homespun trousers were little protection from the cold winds that blew across the Jersey flats, but the word "home" had warned him. He could make it if he had to crawl the whole way.

There were a few friends to whom he had to say goodbye and then he started for Pennsylvania. There were no horses he could secure and he walked slowly but steadily. It was a long way to the Conewago, but he felt sure he could find it.

In the towns he found his slim stock of gold which he had saved through the long retreat was enough to secure a little food and some shelter. But those who took his money were curt with him and refused to talk.

But they talked freely to others in his presence. These fat innkeepers and their equally fat customers seemed to take pleasure in talking of the stupid army that was causing a revolution. They drank to the king and sneered at Andrew as they drank. They cursed Washington for keeping the revolution going and cursed the congress for being a pack of cowardly fools.

Then they talked long of how much suffering the rabble mongers of congress and the army had caused the nation. Andrew looked long at them, at their fat faces, their soft clothes, their air of well being and wondered what they knew of suffering, they who had remained behind.

He said nothing, not even mentioning the heavy wagons that were being filled with provisions outside the inns to carry food to New York to the British where they could be sold at a high profit.

One man tried to explain himself to Andrew in an inn near the Pennsylvania line.

Hurt by the look in Andrew's eyes he bought him a drink and then explained: "Personally I'm in favor of the revolution and I think we should be free of England. I think Washington's doing a good job. But a man would be a fool if he sent his products to the continental army, instead of the British. The British pay quickly and top prices and in gold. All the congress gives you is continental money which is worthless. I'd like to do it, but I've got my wife and children to think of, and my standing in the community. The war won't last forever you know. A man's crazy as a bat if he doesn't make what he can honestly while he may."

He seemed startled when Andrew's glass dropped from his nerveless fingers and the Pennsylvania rose and walked unsteadily away.

Change in Attitude
Nearing home and with the last gold pieces gone, Andrew found his plight more pitiable. Crippled as he was with rheumatism and age he could scarcely walk. The roads were muddy quagmires when they were not frozen.

He begged food and was turned away from the inns. He begged food of the farmers and was told to be about his business, that there was no food for the likes of him.

Sometimes he got a crust, or some milk, enough to keep him going.

Then at long last the road was familiar. He was in York county. Another twenty or thirty miles and he would be home.

The house looked familiar. Then seeing it closer he remembered. Here was where the people had come to the road as he and the rest of the York countians had marched away to New York. Here they had handed them milk and bread and the women had stood waving until they were out of sight. Here the man of the house had cheered them and told how he wished he too might go with them. He knocked at the door and his whole body flooded with warmth at the thought of the rest and the food he could find here.

The door opened a crack. "Who is there?"

"Andrew Schreiber of the Continental Army."

"Continental Army?" The door swung wider and the end of a musket came through the opening. The man behind the gun was livid. "Take your dirty carcass away from here. We allow none of the vermin of the continental army, thieves, idiots, dolts, to come here. Go."

Andrew backed away, his mind almost too shocked to understand. "Go, before I fire."

Andrew turned and started shuffling through the snow from the door. Behind him he heard the crash of the musket and a pellet sang past his ear. He started to run.

Russians Prosecute Farming Officials

Moscow, Sept. 27 (AP)—The prosecution of eight officials of the Kuibyshev and Yaroslavl regions has gotten underway here under an order of the Soviet council of ministers following a sweeping investigation into the collective farming administrations in those areas.

The officials have been charged with violations of the collective farm chapter, which was adopted in 1939 to protect the public collective farmland from plunder.

Two of the officials being prosecuted are district secretaries of the communist party.

(The central committee of the communist party and the council of ministers recently issued an order calling for a cleanup of the collective farming administrations.)

SCRIBE VISITS PLEASANT HOME OF DOMINICANS

By FRANK BRUTTO
Rome (AP)—We puffed up the Salita Del Grillo (the cricket's climb) and, when the collegio angelicum—a sudden green Shangri-La—unfolded before us, felt like an intruder from a world where headlines shouted of atomic war.

Here, beyond the rumble of Rome's traffic, is the international center of the friars preachers, more commonly known as the Dominicans.

In a cool corridor, a solitary priest, whose black and white habit and round, black brimmed hat gave him the appearance of a swallow, closed his book and fluttered toward us. We began in Italian.

"But," he interrupted to ask, "You are American?"

"Yes—and you, too?"

First In 17 Years
"No," he smiled. "I'm Irish." His accent, like a remembered note, sent us spinning back a couple of decades to school days at Spokane, Wash., to the dormitory windows at Gonzaga where we used to watch the sun shine on the roofs of St. Michael's—a forgotten world. Here it was quiet, gentle, peaceful and aloof.

Alternate sun and shade patterned the cloister where the murmured languages of many countries mingled with the cool splashing of a fountain. The priests walked in twos and threes. Some wore the totally white habit they sometimes wear at home. Through an archway could be seen the gilded angels of Rome's gaudiest monument—to Vittorio Emanuele II. In another direction was the colosseum and below, Trajan's forum—all very near, yet far away.

"Yes," explained our guide, "It will be our first election in 17 years. The war prevented our gathering here in 1941."

Related Order's History
He briefly related the order's history, mentioning such names as the scholastic doctors, Albert the Great and St. Thomas Aquinas, the order's founding by St. Dominic in the 13th century to kindle the Christian spirit by preaching and corporate poverty, the four Dominican popes, its far-flung missions, how the new master general (the Rev. Emanuel Suarez, of Spain, elected Saturday) would be the 80th in the long order of succession.

He told how all 110 delegates to the elective chapter—there are nine from the United States—went a few days ago to Bologna where, unnoticed by the press, the relics of St. Dominic were unearthed from the secret hiding place where they had lain through the war and carried back in triumph to their ancient tomb in the church of St. Dominic, decorated by Michelangelo in 1494.

"The people of Bologna," said our guide, "promised to guard the relics if their city was spared. And the city was spared."

"Fifty thousand of them joined in the procession. Ah, that was a sight, a grand sight."

Some Modern Touches
He spoke of the order's constitution. "You know," he said, "We are very Democratic. Everything is decided by discussion and vote—a white bead for an aye, a black one for a nay."

"The founders of America are said to have studied the Dominican constitution when they framed their great document."

"Normally we have an elective chapter every three years to consider changes and propositions must pass three elective chapters over a period of nine years before they become Dominican law."

"Is it true that you now are con-nic, decorated by Michelangelo in 1494.
